HIGH WINDS

Five Business Buildings
And 12 Residences In Tribbey Vicinity Razed

DAMAGE IS $500,000

Four Houses In Kansas
City Hit by Lightning;
Floods Sweep Wyoming

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., May 16.—High winds and near cloudbursts over an area of four counties southwest of here during the night caused damage estimated today at more than $500,000. Five business buildings and a dozen residences at Tribbey, near Shawnee, Okla., were destroyed. Although several persons were slightly injured by falling roofs and walls, no deaths had been reported today.

Tribbey was isolated from communication today, the wind snapping telegraph and telephone poles at their base. Damage at Tribbey was estimated at $200,000. Tribbey has a population of 400.

Small dwellings were demolished and several larger residences were unroofed when a near cloudburst, accompanied by high winds swept Norman, 20 miles from Oklahoma City. Nearly a mile of the electric power line which feeds the city was torn down, leaving the city without electric power.

FIERCE STORM IN KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 16.—A heavy rain, accompanied by a high wind, swept this section last night, causing minor property damage. Street car traffic was temporarily tied up and light service was crippled. Four houses were struck by lightning here and in Kansas City, Kas., the wind felling trees and poles.

WYOMING TOWN MENACED BY FLOOD

CASPER, Wyo., May 16.—Flood conditions prevailed in the Platte River valley, near here, today, as a result of the heavy mountain rains the last few days. The town of Glenrock 25 miles east of Casper, was reported partly submerged, with many families fleeing to higher ground.

Body of Girl Is Found In Ocean

LONG BEACH, May 16.—The body of Margaret Phillips, 19, daughter of W. D. Phillips, superintendent of service of the Southern California Edison company, was removed from the surf at the foot of Eighth place here, early today. Police found the girl's body shortly after her father reported her disappearance. She had left a note at her hotel, stating she intended to commit suicide because she was afflicted with chronic headache.

Fist Fights Mark Watts Election

WATTS, May 16.—Hans D. Anderson was elected mayor of Watts at Friday's special recall election, returns showed today. He will displace Mayor Marcus T. Manus, who was recalled by a vote of 896 to 587. Armed guards patrolled all polling places during the balloting yesterday. With the exception of the fist encounters, there were no disorders.

SUGGESTS RADICAL CHANGES IN NEW YORK CHURCH WHEN INVITED TO BECOME PASTOR

NEW YORK, May 16.—Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, storm center of the Fundamentalist-Modernist controversy, has been called to the pulpit of the Park Avenue Baptist church, known as the "Rockefeller church," because the Rockefeller family, both father and son, worship there. Unless, however, certain radical changes are made—changes which would separate the church from the rest of the Baptist communion—Dr. Fosdick announced he would not accept the call. Dr. Fosdick's provisions are: 1.—That the church does not

Arrest 125 In Chinese Lottery Raid

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—Chinatown was rudely jarred from its dreamy complacency early today when police descended on the celestial haunts and made 125 arrests. The entire raiding section of the local police force took part in the roundup. A dozen places were raided simultaneously, and games of fan-tan and lottery were rudely broken up. The Chinamen were charged with violating municipal gambling laws.

HARDISON IS RETICENT ON GOVERNORSHIP

"That is something for the people to decide," was the cryptic statement of A. C. Hardison, Santa Paula, president of the California Farm Bureau federation, an organization of more than 25,000 members, when asked today in Santa Ana if he would be a candidate for the governorship of California on the Republican ticket in 1926.

Hardison refused to be pinned to a definite statement as to his candidacy, but from reports which have trickled about the state, he is being urged on all sides to throw his hat into the ring.

On Way to San Diego "The federation president stopped here for a short time on his way to San Diego county, where he was scheduled to speak at the opening of a new irrigation system.

In addition to being head of the federation, Hardison is manager of the Hardison Ranch company, director of the Limonera company, director of the Santa Paula citrus association and director of the Mugu Citrus association, all of Santa Paula. The firms and organizations are among the largest in the state.

The Santa Paula man evinced little desire to discuss the governorship matter and, beyond the non-committal statement quoted above, smilingly refused to discuss the subject.

Popular With Farm Bureau Hardison is reported to be one of the most popular executives of the California Farm bureau has ever had.

The federation chief was invited to speak at the annual picnic of the Orange County Farm bureau at the county park next Saturday, but a trip which he must make to central California will preclude another visit here, he stated today. On subjects other than politics, Hardison was not so reticent. He took occasion to pay high compliments to A. A. Brook, county horticultural commissioner, declaring: "Brook is one of the most efficient and conscientious horticultural commissioners in the state, and Orange county should indeed be proud to have such a man in its employ."

In speaking of the quarantine conference, which will be held at Boise, Idaho, the week of June 13, above representatives of the 11 western states in attendance, Hardison declared that the entire country is looking to California for leadership in quarantine matters.

4 To Stand Trial In Ranch Slaying

HANFORD, Calif., May 16.—Up holding the legal week of June 13, returned against the defendants in the Lee Camp murder case Judge Van Zante today ruled that Mrs. W. Stanton Brown, John Tipton, Fred Mills and Robert McCallish must stand trial for the alleged murder of the young wealthy rancher.

Insist upon that principle of Baptist faith which requires baptism by immersion.

2.—That the church open its membership to all Christians.

3.—That the church build a "skyscraper edifice" with living quarters, club rooms and other institutional features.

Another provision is that his salary as pastor shall not exceed $5000 a year.

Church officials, including the present pastor, already have approved Dr. Fosdick's stipulations, which will be voted on and probably accepted by the 500 communicants May 27.

HALL TELLS HIS REASON FOR ESCAPE

Wanted to Commence Life All Over Again, Youthful California Prisoner Says

SACRAMENTO, Calif., May 16.—"I wanted to get away off someplace and start all over again." Standing in the center of a group of newspapermen, photographers and police, Floyd Hall, escaped San Quentin killer, gave this as the sole reason for his desperate fight for liberty after escaping from the state penitentiary.

There was a plaintive note in his voice as he spoke of his boyhood days in Mere Rouge, La. His sun-tanned and weather-lined face registered true remorse as he talked of his parents.

"I was raised right. My parents did everything they could for me, but I got off on the wrong foot, that's all. I ran away when I was 14 years old, when I should have been going to school. I guess I learned a lot I shouldn't have."

Hall has never notified his relatives of his trouble, he said.

Hears Nothing of Family "For all they know I might be dead. I never did write to them after I went to the reform school in Colorado."

Hall declares his exact age to be 20 years. He gives the date of his birth as Oct. 30, 1904. The prison records showing him to be 22 years of age are incorrect.

Joe Tanko and Hall met in Colorado and have been pals ever since, the youthful convict asserted. "He is a fine pal and I don't think the cops will ever get him alive. He wants a new start, too."

In answer to the barrage of queries that were fired at him by the reporters, Hall was extremely courteous. He was reticent about answering questions concerning his various activities.

"There are some things that will have to come out at the trial. I am not prepared to make a statement at this time. I'll say this much, though, there have been a lot of things done that we are wrongly blamed for."

Blamed for Other Holdups "Right after we escaped, some heartless persons started a lot of holdups and one thing and another that they blame us for. We didn't do half as much as we are charged with."

Hall declared he and his pal made their way out of the prison without any "inside" aid. The lock on the cell was picked from the inside, he said.

Asked if he had ever seen the officers looking for him, the convict declared that, on several occasions, he was within a stone's throw of the posse.

"We could have ambushed some of the police lots of times, but we didn't want to. All we wanted to do was to get away, but we were desperate about that."

"It is hard to explain how a hunted man feels," he declared. "There is a definite thrill to it at first, but the novelty wears off after a fellow has missed a lot of sleep and three or four meals."

"Do you know you are going to swing for this?" asked one of the reporters.

"Well, I am going to make a fight against it," Hall replied. "I haven't any friends, but I hope that some attorney who has faith in me will become interested in the case."

Hall specifically denied he or Tanko were involved in the shooting of Joe Pitzberg, Sacramento merchant.

"That is absolutely the bunk, and we didn't have a thing to do with it."

The two men had no definite plan when they escaped from prison, Hall said. "We had some money that we managed to get while in prison, and we didn't know just where we would go."

When asked to pose for the pictures Hall smiled and willingly assented. "Let me comb my hair first. I really ought to have a shave, too, but I suppose you fellows haven't as much time as I have."

Good Night's Sleep "The first good night's sleep I had since we got out of the prison was the night they caught me," he declared.

Grimly sticking to their posts, despite the discouraging indications, police and posmen today continued the hunt for Tanko.

Mother Sees Dead Son 30 Years Lost

SANTA BARBARA, May 16.—The body of Rudolph Wilde, 48, was identified today by Mrs. L. M. Wilde, Los Angeles, as that of her son, missing for 30 years. Wilde was declared legally dead several years ago, after a nation-wide search. A $100,000 estate left him by his father reverted to Mrs. Wilde. Wilde was working here as a gardener for the Montecito Country Club.

SANDE'S HORSE IS WINNER OF KENTUCKY RACE

CHURCHILL DOWNS, LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16.—Flying Ebony, a Kentucky horse, and a rank outsider in the betting, stood a hard drive to win the 51st Kentucky Derby here today.

Captain Hal, eastern entry, after leading in the stretch was forced to be content with second place. While Son of John came through the rut and finished third. Horsemanship won again for Earl Sande back in the saddle after a long lay-off had the mount on Flying Ebony, and rode a masterly race for instant to finish.

Quadrant, favorite for the big event, failed to show among the leaders at any time.

The time for the mile and a quarter was two minutes, seven and two-fifths seconds, considered excellent in view of the sloppy condition of the track.

OBSCENE PICTURES, MAGAZINES, SCORED

FRESNO, May 16.—Choice of the 1926 meeting place of the California Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations between Santa Barbara and San Bernardino today lay in the hands of the executive board, to be decided at a meeting in Sacramento in July.

The congress assembled last night after passing resolutions against systems of magazine and motion picture distribution which gave dealers no choice in eliminating those considered by the convention to be obscene.

The second district won the emblem design, with the first district second, and the third district third. The first district won in magazine competition, followed by the second and third districts. Poster prizes were awarded Lincoln school, at Bakersfield, and Oakland technical school.

DISCUSS CURB ON DRUG SMUGGLING

EL PASO, Tex., May 16.—The joint Mexican-American commission, here to discuss ways and means of eliminating smuggling along the border, stood adjourned today until Monday, after drawing up a tentative program at the informal discussions of the program, which will seek to curtail activities of drug and liquor running into the United States from Mexico, were scheduled today.

Illegal entry of aliens, exclusive of Mexicans, into the United States through the liquor and other contraband running questions are threatened, delegates indicated.

U. S. ORDERS NATIONS PAY OBLIGATIONS

America Demands Settlement by Foreigners of Their Unfunded Debts

MAY BE LONG AFFAIR

Government at Washington Insists on Adjustment at Earliest Possible Moment

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 16.—Foreign nations whose unfunded debts to the United States totals are half a billion have been informed that this government expects them to arrange a settlement at the earliest possible moment.

While these nations are specifically mentioned as recipients of this government's demand for settlement, it is believed probable that all European debtor nations may have been served notice. Official confirmation, however, is lacking.

A high official said today that France, Italy, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Rumania and practically all other governments with unfunded debts are being urged to take action by this government.

Jugo-Slavia, Greece, Estonia, Latvia, Austria, Armenia, Russia, Nicaragua and Liberia are the other nations listed in the funded class by the treasury department.

Russia, however, has no recognized government with which to negotiate, and Armenia is a non-existent state. Despite pressure exerted by the administration for a speedy agreement with the governments, it is believed in diplomatic circles that negotiations will be long and difficult.

The administration has decided upon this new and concentrated drive for debt funding as the most important outstanding foreign problem of this government, and one which is intimately connected with taxation and the present economy program.

Despite present negotiations, however, several of the debtor countries have failed to respond promptly to the suggestion of an immediate funding settlement.

There is every indication here, however, that the administration has in its demands and that it will continue to exert pressure until the respective debts are funded.

ACID THROWER TO GET OUT OF JAIL

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—Mrs. Darby Day Jr., under sentence of one to 14 years in San Quentin penitentiary for disfiguring her husband's face with acid, will probably be released from jail soon pending an appeal for a new trial.

John L. Richardson, the "flapper bride's" attorney, announced today he was preparing a writ of habeas corpus, which will gain her release pending hearing of the arguments on motion for retrial of the case.

Judge Carlos Hardy, in sentencing Mrs. Day, ridiculed the plea of her attorneys that she was but a 12-year-old girl mentally. "Most of the inmates of prisons have a so-called mental age of 12 or less," the court said.

"Indeed, the chief reason why men and women commit crime is because they are subnormal mentally. No smart man ever goes to jail."

Mrs. Day threw acid in her husband's face during a domestic quarrel, caused, she claimed, by "too much mother-in-law." Day is the son of a millionaire Chicago family.

RICHARDSON MAY EXERCISE POCKET VETO ON MEASURE TO INCREASE TAX ON GAS

SACRAMENTO, May 16.—An indication that the one-cent gasoline tax increase measure passed by the legislature may be permitted to die for lack of executive encouragement is seen in a statement issued at the governor's office.

"Serious legal questions have been raised to the bill," the statement declares. These objections are mainly to amendments to the bill adopted in the senate, and which require the highway commission to budget its income, it is stated.

WOMEN BURN TO DEATH

HILLSDALE, N. J., May 16.—Mrs. Henry S. Wise and Mrs. Henrietta Donfield were burned to death early today when fire destroyed the former's home at Woodcliffe lake, near here.

The injured sailors were taken from the steamer after the naval hospital at Hampton Roads. The message did not give the number of men injured, nor extent of damage to the vessel.

The fire was under control in a short time.

Porter reported to Sheriff Jer-nigan that, as far as he knew, his entire neighborhood was clear of rum running last night. He said that he had several men on the lookout throughout the night. Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy, and three other deputy sheriffs were working throughout the night, patrolling the beaches. They were not at Laguna, but saw nothing along the coast north of Laguna.

King Refuses To Sign Death Warrants

VIENNA, May 16.—King Boris, of Bulgaria, who was attacked near Sofia just previous to the cathedral outrage in which more than 200 lives were lost, has refused to sign the death warrants of Communists condemned by a tribunal for participation in these plots against the throne and government. Several of those condemned were to have been publicly hanged near the Sveti Kral cathedral, which was destroyed by a bomb during the funeral services of General Georgehief.

FOREST FIRES IN ARIZONA ARE UNDER CONTROL

PHOENIX, Ariz., May 16.—Forest fires in the Rincon and Chiricahua mountains, of the Coronado National park, were brought well under control today, according to T. T. Swift, local chief of the state forestry service.

The only danger today was in the Chiricahua range section, 40 miles northeast of Douglas, where the blaze was still raging. The flames were being gradually subdued, however, by a force of volunteer firefighters, according to Swift.

Both areas swept by the latest outbreak of fires in Arizona forests are detached portions of the Coronado National park, which has had less rainfall the last year than any other government forest.

Since May 1, there have been a total of 20 forest fires in Arizona. Nearly 1000 acres of good timber have been destroyed by the fires, caused in most cases by lightning.

GOVERNOR DENIES SALE OF PARDONS

TOPEKA, Kas., May 16.—With court adjourned until Monday morning, the principals and others in the trial of Jonathan M. Davis, former governor of Kansas, charged with bribery in connection with pardoning convicts, prepared today for the final stages of the trial next week.

The climax of the trial thus far was reached late yesterday, when the former governor, who witnesses testified, conspired with Carl Peterson, former bank commissioner, to sell a pardon, testified in his own behalf.

Davis denied emphatically that he had ever received any money for any parole or pardon issued while he was governor. His testimony was a general denial of much of the evidence introduced by the state.

The boats turned and were soon out of sight.

That at least one big rum schooner left off the Orange county coast line was vouched for by Sheriff Sam Jerigan today.

With several deputy sheriffs, Jerigan toured the coast yesterday afternoon and, according to him, there were several ships on the horizon. They could be seen with the use of powerful glasses. One seemed to be unusually large, and was stationary.

Denies Battle At Sea J. A. Porter, chief of police at Newport Beach, denied that any fight had taken place between rum runners and hi-jackers off the coast of Balboa last night. Reports of a fight in which a large number of shots were fired, and in which it was reported one man probably was killed, were current in Santa Ana today.

Porter reported to Sheriff Jerigan that, as far as he knew, his entire neighborhood was clear of rum running last night. He said that he had several men on the lookout throughout the night.

Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy, and three other deputy sheriffs were working throughout the night, patrolling the beaches. They were not at Laguna, but saw nothing along the coast north of Laguna.

Jack Roberts, Ray Wallace, Jesse Elliott and Joe Ryan, deputy sheriffs, were at Laguna last night at the time the rum boats were signaled not to come to the shore. They were lying in ambush for the landing party.

More than a score of officers were on guard throughout the night along the Orange county "front." Jerigan said that, until the ships were moved from in front of the county shoreline, these men will remain on duty.

PASADENA MERCHANT KILLED

PASADENA, May 16.—Funeral services will be held Monday for D. R. Hirschler, 71, prominent Pasadena merchant, killed in an automobile accident. Hirschler died from injuries received when a machine driven by his brother, J. D. Hirschler, collided with a street car.

CAPTURE OF THREE BOATS FRUSTRATED

Confederates on Land Believed to Have Flashed Warning to Smugglers

U. S. AGENTS GUARD

Government Officials and Deputy Sheriffs Patrol Orange County's Shore

CAPTURE of three boats, believed to have been loaded with booze, was prevented last night when the presence in Laguna Beach of several federal officers and members of the Orange county sheriff's office was signalled to the fleet.

Just where the tip came from and who was responsible for the warning given the rum runners could not be learned, but officers saw a man in an automobile signal, presumably with a flashlight, to the oncoming boats. They immediately turned about and put to sea.

Federal agents and deputy sheriffs patrolled the coast line throughout the remainder of the night, but no other attempt was made to land the cargo, so far as is known.

Anchor Off Catalina According to information obtained today, five big rum smugglers anchored off Catalina island this week, and more than $100,000 worth of choice liquors from these boats was landed on Terminal island.

According to information obtained by a coast guard cutter, approximately $50,000 worth of this booze was to have been landed at Laguna last night, and then moved to Los Angeles by way of Laguna canyon.

Two men, thought to have been "lookouts" for the rum runners, were seen in Laguna last yesterday afternoon. They made themselves conspicuous by sitting in an automobile on the principal street during the afternoon, and it is this car, authorities believe, that was used to signal the fleet of three boats.

Federal Agents At Laguna The federal men arrived in Laguna last night at almost the same time the boats were seen to be moving toward the shore. Soon after the federal appeared, the car was seen to suddenly dash up one of the cliffs, and a man with a flashlight was observed to send several signals to the boats. The automobile then disappeared and, although the entire neighborhood was searched by officers, the car could not be found.

The boats turned and were soon out of sight.

With several deputy sheriffs, Jerigan toured the coast yesterday afternoon and, according to him, there were several ships on the horizon. They could be seen with the use of powerful glasses. One seemed to be unusually large, and was stationary.

300 DELEGATES ATTEND CHURCH ASSEMBLY HERE

Approximately 300 official delegates had registered today at the interdenominational convention of Spanish-Speaking Evangelical Sunday Schools and Young People's Societies of Southern California, in session here.

Today's sessions were held at the Frances Willard junior high school, on North Main street, and tomorrow's meeting will be held at the same place. Past meetings of the present convention have been held at the First Methodist church.

Today's program was principally dedicated to the Young People's societies, starting with a sunrise service. Following a spiritual praise service at 9 a. m., the young men and women began their enthusiastic and instructive addresses, the program being as follows: "Methods to Prepare Our Youth As Leaders of the Work," Abraham Navas; "How to Promote the Spirituality of the Youth of Today," Leonardo Mercado; "The Youth in Jesus Time and the Youth of the Present," the Rev. A. Sanchez; sermon, the Rev. S. D. Athens.

Afternoon Speaking Program

Following praise services directed by the Rev. J. C. Ruiz, the afternoon speaking program was presented by the Revs. Victor M. Cano and Carlos Andueza, former priests, who discussed the subject, "The Cooperation of the Young People's Societies with their church."

Important business matters and election of officers were scheduled for the late afternoon.

A pageant, "The Children of the Bible" will be presented by the Anaheim Mexican church as a feature of the program for tonight's meeting. The evening sermon will be delivered by the Rev. J. M. Ibarra.

Tomorrow's program consists of sunrise services, led by the Rev. A. Arellano; union Sunday school at 9 a. m., and preaching service at

Ventura Gasoline Men Entertained

Promoting a closer relation between retailers and the distributor, Ralph Mosher, proprietor of the Ventura Supply company, of this city, last night entertained a large number of county retailers of Ventura gasoline and oils at St. Ann's Inn.

The Ventura Supply company is county distributor for the products of the Ventura Refining company.

Following dinner, addresses were made by Frank Hobart, advertising manager for the refining company, who outlined the big advertising campaign for 1925, and by E. A. Hill, assistant sales manager, who discussed sales methods.

Departmental meetings for women, for young people and for men will be held at 2:15 p. m., followed by testimony meeting at 2:45 p. m. The convention will close with a sermon in the evening by Dr. E. H. Selin.

Ministers Hold Session

Thursday afternoon, the association of Spanish-speaking Evangelical Ministers and Workers of Southern California held a session, presided over by the Rev. H. Puro. In the evening, Dr. W. H. McPeak gave a welcome on behalf of the Santa Ana Ministerial association, and the Rev. B. E. Garcia did the same on behalf of the entertaining churches. Words of appreciation were spoken by C. Rojas and the Rev. B. Urquidí. Special numbers by a Santa Ana Young People's chorus and others, and especially the music furnished by the Ramirez orchestra, added to the enthusiasm of the meeting. The message was by the president of the convention, the Rev. Ignacio Lopez.

Important themes were ably discussed at the Friday forenoon and afternoon sessions. In the evening, the Rev. E. R. Brown gave a significant illustrated talk about the phenomenal growth of Baptist missionary work among Mexicans below the border.

TWO ANAHEIM SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS QUIT

R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools, announced this morning that the resignations of E. H. Metcalf and G. W. Sloop, members of the Anaheim grammar school board, have been accepted, to take effect at the end of the present school year.

Metcalf, accompanied by C. C. Smith, superintendent of the Anaheim grammar schools, whose resignation, to take effect July 1, was accepted a few days ago, called this morning at Superintendent Mitchell's office.

Neither Metcalf nor Smith cared to make any statement regarding their resignations, limiting themselves to saying that they stood on their records as school officials, and that the community would be the best judge of their accomplishments on the board.

Superintendent Mitchell said today that the vacancies created by the resignations of Metcalf and Sloop will be filled in time to allow the board to make necessary arrangements for the coming school year.

START WORK ON 4 NEW ORANGE COUNTY WELLS

Notice of the starting of four new wells in Orange county were filed with the state gas and oil supervisors, it was revealed here today with arrival of the weekly report of the department on operations during the week ended May 9.

Elmer 2 and Orange County 3 were started at Newport Beach by Bessemer and Yerkes; Huntington 4-28, at Huntington Beach, by the Standard Oil company, and No. 1, at Newport Beach, by Barnett Rosenberg.

The Standard Oil company made a test for water shut-off in Bolsa 18, at Huntington Beach, this being the only operation of that nature reported for the week.

Deepening work was started in the Huntington Beach field, by Mile-Keck company, on No. 5; by Bell of Montebello Oil company, on No. 6, and by the Sun Oil company, on No. 6.

In the Newport field, redrilling was started by the Pacific Petroleum corporation, on No. 8, and by the Interstate Oil company, on Norris No. 1.

Hagenstein appeared for the plaintiff.

Sue Fullerton Firm.

The Collection Service corporation, of Los Angeles, was plaintiff today in a superior court action against the Peoples' Furniture company, of Fullerton, asking judgment for $472.50, on account.

Asks Mortgage Foreclosure

Foreclosure of a $5000 mortgage against property on West Chapman avenue, Orange, is asked in a superior court suit filed by Thomas Eadington, of Santa Ana, against Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Garber. Attorney Carl M. Heim represents Eadington.

Sues for Damages

Arilla A. Edson, who claims to have been severely injured when struck by an automobile at First and Tustin streets January 19, has filed suit in superior court, asking $2500 damages.

Wright and Thomas Wright Jr. were named as defendants. The latter was said to have been driving the Wright family car when the accident occurred.

The plaintiff claims to have suffered a broken nose, dislocations of hip, vertebrae and one thumb, besides bruises and cuts on hands and arms and legs.

Scarborough, Forgy and Reinhaus filed the action on behalf of the plaintiff.

Mrs. Latham Wants Divorce

Nancy Louise Latham, formerly of Tennessee, today asked a divorce from William P. Latham, and custody of their three children, Billy Ruth, 4, Mary Helen, 2 and Jack, aged 6 months. The Lathams now reside in Santa Ana.

Mrs. Latham, represented in the court proceedings by Attorney Kenneth H. Burns, charged her husband with non-support and cruelty. He frequently cursed her and associated with other women, she alleged.

They were married at McMinn, Tenn., Dec. 21, 1919, and separated here two days ago, according to the divorce complaint.

Says Wife Nagged Him

Besides receiving attentions from other men, his wife nagged, and frequently told him she detested him and hoped he would sue for divorce, so he finally told her at her word, C. A. Kelley, of Cypress, alleged today in his superior court suit for divorce.

The couple married Dec. 8, 1905, at Bonham, Tex., and separated at Cypress last December 8, their nineteenth wedding anniversary. They have six children, ranging in ages from 4 to 8 years.

Attorney Roland Thompson, of Santa Ana, represents Kelley.

Seek Title to Land

Title to narrow strips of ground, forming a part of Rimpau square, in Anaheim, were involved today in two superior court actions on file against Los Angeles bankers, including J. F. Sartori, M. S. Hellman, W. D. Longyear, W. G. Kerckhoff and H. W. O'Melveny.

The plaintiffs, Natalia Rimpau, in one action, and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore R. Rimpau, in the other, each ask title to 10-foot strips of ground. The defendants are sued as trustees for the creditors of the defunct Main Street Savings bank, of Los Angeles.

Attorneys Ames and McFadden, of Anaheim, are counsel for the Rimpaus.

STRESSES PART SCHOOLS PLAY IN DEMOCRACY

Revolutionary changes in the educational fabric of the nation with the federal government controlling the system, were visioned by Dr. Robert J. Taylor, president of Pomona college, in an address delivered last night in the Santa Ana high school auditorium under the auspices of the three local Masonic lodges.

The meeting was arranged in observance of "Public Schools Week," sponsored by the grand lodge of Masons of California in order to foster and encourage support of free education.

In his address, Dr. Taylor stressed the importance of education in the realization of the ideals of democracy. He pointed to the need of having public school teaching centralized in the national government.

"The rulers of a democratic country are the people, and it is necessary that the people be intelligent," the speaker said. "Democracy and education are inseparably united. Education is of national interest and the time is coming when states will be taxed for the maintenance of a federal policy of school supervision."

"Perhaps this is visionary, but writers and leaders today are commenting and working toward its fulfillment. As soon as legislators stop making laws on material things and aim at higher and more worthy purposes, then this country will make a great advance."

"Society owes a complete training to every child. Our schools are not merely to impart knowledge; they must teach students how to live and share the responsibilities of life. Social evils of today may be most effectively corrected in the schools."

"The school of today has progressed far beyond the stage of the 'little red schoolhouse.' With the multiplicity of subjects that are being taught, we often hear unjustified criticism of modern methods."

"Children today are taught through interest. The best place to train children is at play. Education at the present time seeks to instruct boys and girls in the ways of meeting present situations, realizing that to be a preparation for the future."

"Our public schools must be worthy of training children who will be the leaders able to cope with the progressing times."

Before the evening's address, a program of musical numbers was given by the high school boys and girls' glee clubs and the high school orchestra, led by S. J. Mustol. The meeting was presided over by Ward Sutton, master of Silver Cord lodge, F. & A. M.

Robert Speed, master of Jubilee lodge, gave a short talk, dwelling on the importance of an enlightened citizenry in the United States. The principal speaker was introduced by Dr. L. L. Whitson, master of Santa Ana lodge, No. 241.

Police News

A lone white rabbit was stolen from a cage in the back yard of the home of David Julian, 915 South Van Ness street, last night, according to a report to police, today. The rabbit was a pet of the Julian children. Two rabbits, in another cage were not taken.

Sid Smithwick, assistant to Chief of Police Claude Rogers, returned to Santa Ana today after two weeks' motor trip through Arizona. He was accompanied by Mrs. Smithwick. They visited friends in Phoenix and other Arizona towns.

Three men, jailed 30 days ago on charges of vagrancy at Fullerton, were re-arrested at the expiration of their terms yesterday and are being held in the county jail on burglary charges. They are F. Roivers, 19; Ruel Ruedo, 20; M. Oro-sio, 22. The youths are charged with breaking into a box car at Fullerton, according to jailers who rebooked them.

Bernard Fallon, 20, arrested yesterday at Orange by Motorcycle Officer Pat Hurd, was free today, following payment of a $50 fine. He was found guilty of reckless driving. Fallon, a mechanic at Whittier, paid his fine in gold.

Car Crash Victim Reported Better

Condition of Marjorie Haines was reported as improved today.

Lying in the Santa Ana Valley hospital, the 16-year-old Orange girl has been fighting for life since May 7, when she suffered a fractured skull, when a Pacific Electric car hit an automobile in which she was riding on West Seventeenth street. She still remained unconscious today.

Although Charles Ring's condition was reported as improved today, his life is still in danger, according to a report made from the Orange county hospital. Ring was another of the victims of the inter-urban crash, and is also suffering from a fractured skull.

The condition of John Mon, Bolsa youth, who was struck by an automobile on the highway near Bolsa, several days ago, was reported as unchanged today. His condition is satisfactory to attending physicians, it was reported.

Charge Perjury; Claim Bride Was 13 Years of Age

Charged with perjury in connection with her marriage here to Gladys Bridwell, said to be but 13 years of age, James Flite, 23, of Whittier, was in the county jail today awaiting arraignment in court.

Flite was taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff Ray Wallace and Constable Jesse Elliott late yesterday, after D. N. Bridwell, father of the girl, had sworn to a complaint.

In applying for license to marry Miss Bridwell, Flite is alleged to have made affidavit that she was 18 years old.

B. J. MacMullen, former Chevrolet Motor Company official, has purchased our business—taking immediate possession.

We want to take advantage of this opportunity to thank all Chevrolet owners in this territory for their patronage, and know we are leaving our business in excellent hands as Mr. MacMullen has an enviable record extending over many years for efficiency and square dealing.

Mr. MacMullen is not a stranger to Santa Ana, as he recently resigned his position as general manager for O. A. Haley, Inc., where he made many friends, to enter business for himself.

We understand that Mr. MacMullen has adopted as a slogan for his house—"Courtesy and Square Dealing Guaranteed," which fits the man as courtesy and square dealing is his middle name.

We are leaving Santa Ana with considerable regret as our association with the people of Santa Ana and vicinity has been an enjoyable one.

THREE DEPART FOR CONFEDERATE MEET

Col. R. S. Kimberlin, commander of III Bledsoe camp No. 1202, United Veterans of the Confederacy, and three members of the Daughters of the Confederacy, Mrs. George Kimball, Mrs. George Dickson and Mrs. George Wells, all of Santa Ana, left this morning for the annual reunion of the two organizations at Dallas, Texas.

The meeting opens Monday and will continue until May 23. Veterans and Daughters from all parts of the country will be in attendance at the reunion.

Colonel Kimberlin was the only member of the local camp leaving for the gathering.

Arrivals at St. Ann's Inn include B. Frank Pinkas, business man and property owner of Inglewood; Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Williams, Scranton, Pa.; Mrs. Esther L. Mahoney, Wilkes Barre, Pa.; R. R. Seel, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hardison, Santa Paula; Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Johnston, San Diego; E. W. Bolton, San Diego.

A romance which began many years ago in Boulder, Colo., was brought to a happy termination this morning when Miss Della M. Gethens of that city, became the bride of Alfred W. Kropp, a San Diego building contractor. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church. The couple will spend their honeymoon in Los Angeles, following which they will make their home in the Silver Bow city.

Miss Mabel White, daughter of Mrs. Lucinda White, 146 South Harwood street, Orange, died suddenly in her home this morning. The body was removed to the Ellis Undertaking parlors, in Orange. Miss White had been troubled recently with asthma, and it is believed this disease caused her death. Funeral arrangements had not been completed today.

J. W. T. Kimball was in the city today from Big Bear lake, where he has property interests. Kimball reports the City creek and Mill creek roads in good condition. Fishing on the lake, he says, has not been all that it should be. He anticipates better fishing in two or three weeks, after the spawning season.

Edward Coehms, Peter Isherwood and Mrs. Isherwood left this morning for Oakland, where, next week, they will be delegates to the state convention of the Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters. The convention will open Monday morning and continue throughout the week.

The meeting was attended by approximately 200 persons. The judges were members of the telephone company's first aid organization.

Problems which the contesting teams were called upon to solve included a rescue from a live wire, severe burns on the hand, large cut over the right eye, simple fracture of the lower part of the left leg, small cut on top of the head, cut on the little finger, cut on the calf of the left leg, improvised stretcher carrying, applying a tourniquet, chair-carrying. The final problem consisted of carrying a person in water for 30 feet and breaking a strangle hold.

Third, fourth and fifth places went to Troop 3, Orange, Troop 3, Huntington Beach; Troop 1, Anaheim. The scores of these teams and their members are: Orange, 75-1-2 per cent, members, Richard Gardner, John Tomblin, Glenn Miles, Curdie McCoy, James Boyer; Huntington Beach, 75 per cent, members, Jack Naylor, Richard Moore, Orville Balcom, Lawrence Ridenour, Jimmy Quigley; Anaheim, 71 per cent, members, Franklin Van Meter, Paul Alexander, Paul Bruce, Clifford Hannah, Kenyon Smith.

The preliminaries were held May 8 in different parts of the county. Roland E. Dye, scout executive for Orange county, states that the contest aroused a great deal of interest among the families of scouts, as well as among the boys themselves.

THANKS AMERICAN LEGION
Santa Ana, Calif., May 15, 1925.
Editor Register: All hail, all glory and all honor to the American Legion.

The Grand Army has been trying for more than fifty years to impress upon the American people the necessity of a sacred Memorial day. After the Spanish-American war, those boys joined us. On Wednesday, the 13th, when the local post of the Grand Army met, in regular session, our good old chaplain, Comrade Grigsby, brought up before the post, the question of the desecration of our Memorial day, and one of his expressions was while it was a "holiday," it should rather be called a "holy day."

The question was raised on account of a publication in The Register on May 11 of the plans for the first annual American Legion Memorial day. Our post felt almost as though our efforts for all these years had been a failure, but it was still thought worth while by the post to place in my hands, as Patriotic Instructor, authority to attempt to do something if possible, in some manner, halt what seemed to be desecration of America's Memorial Day.

I commenced by telephone to try to reach school authorities and city authorities to see if it was possible that anything could be done, when I discovered again in The Register of May 14th, that the local Legion will sponsor the track classic and that they had been able to change the date from Memorial Day to the 6th of June. We now feel confident that our hope will be thoroughly carried out by the legion, not only for this Memorial day, but for all future Memorial Days.

I am sure that the Grand Army, on mass, will rise and proclaim all hail, all glory and all honor to the American Legion, and while boys, we feel that we are a very weak support, we will stand back of you in every attempt that you make, as long as we live, to preserve Memorial Day as a sacred, blessed day to the American people.

While in the north they will be the guests of Mrs. L. M. Ballard's sister, Mrs. Anna Pressnal of Newburg, near Portland. The sisters have not met for forty-three years. They will also visit L. M. Ballard's brother, Morton Ballard, a building contractor of Portland. Mr. Ballard and his brother have not seen each other for twenty years.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Aitken of 320 Winter street are spending the week-end at Santa Susanna, the guests of Mrs. Aitken's brother.

Mrs. George R. Dickson of 401 East Walnut street left this morning on the Southern Pacific for San Antonio, Texas. The trip, which combines business and pleasure, will include Waco, where Mrs. Dickson's father lives, and Dallas.

The Rev. Father Powers, formerly pastor of the Catholic church at Orange, visited friends here Wednesday and Thursday. Father Powers is now in charge of a church in the Verdugo hills.

Among those who have returned from the Knights of Columbus convention held at Fresno are Lawrence Muckenheimer, Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Rosalter, George Ravenkamp and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Murphy. After attending the convention Mr. and Mrs. Murphy visited in San Francisco with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Feeley, formerly of this city.

Edward W. Coehms and P. T. Isherwood, delegates to the grand lodge session of the Knights of Pythias at Oakland, May 18, left today for that city. Mrs. P. T. Isherwood, who is a delegate representing the Pythian Sisters, accompanied Mr. Isherwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross B. Nichols and daughter Evelyn, who have been residents of Santa Ana for about a year, left yesterday via Santa Fe for their home in Kenton, Tennessee. The change was made for the benefit of Mrs. Nichols' health.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Lewis and daughter Margaret of Redondo Beach are spending the week-end with Mrs. Lewis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Robinson of 810 East Sixth street.

Mrs. L. M. Banks of 762 Spurgeon street has as a week-end guest her sister, Mrs. Arthur Seymour of Monrovia.

The many friends of Madame Manuela Budrow of 1119 North Spurgeon street will be pleased to hear that she is reported to be in an improved condition after her sudden illness yesterday.

Miss Isabel Lopez, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Olive Lopez, 801 East Fifth street, left today on the Pickwick stage for Sacramento, accompanied by Miss Minnie Young, who will stop at Modesto to visit her brother-in-law and sister,

"THE SPANIARD" CLOSING AT WEST END TONIGHT

The ability of Ricardo Cortez as a horseman stood him in good stead in "The Spaniard," which closes tonight at the West End theater. One of Cortez' favorite sports is horseback riding, and when the script called for a wild and perilous ride, Cortez was not only on the job but on the horse. He put his mount across streams and over fences. But when he came to a ruined wall, he followed the script and took a spectacular fall. Then he ate a free dinner on Raoul Walsh, directing, by putting his horse over the wall three times in perfect form.

The chase is one of the many big punch scenes in the production. Jetta Goudal, featured with Noah Beery and Cortez in "The Spaniard," is held a captive in an isolated castle in the mountains by Cortez, as The Spaniard. The cross-country ride and spectacular fall is the result of an attempted get-away by Miss Goudal.

Tom Moore and Laurette Taylor in a scene from "One Night in Rome," picture showing tonight at Walker's theater.

DOUGLAS MacLEAN COMEDY HERE TOMORROW

A bear has every qualification which a motion picture actor should not have—except one—he's very, very funny on the screen. A bear played for a solid month opposite Douglas MacLean in the star's new comedy success, "Introduce Me," which comes to the West End tomorrow for a week's engagement.

Among the animal's bad qualities, one stood out like a sore thumb on the hand of a bricklayer. He wanted to hibernate. This bear came from the Imperial valley, one of the hottest places on earth. Even balmy Hollywood was like the Arctic to him. But bruin was bound for much colder climes. He was transported to Lake Chapala, Washington, high in the picturesque Rocky mountains, where it is very, very cold.

"It surely must be winter," said the bear to himself, "and time for my long, long sleep."

He never got this idea out of his head once it was introduced. Urged up the mountain-side to location, he would look for sleeping quarters as soon as he was left alone a moment. Rip Van Winkle's sleep would have been but forty winks to him. He had to be coaxed into wakefulness—a process which took at least 15 minutes before each scene was filmed.

"MEN AND WOMEN" ENDS RUN TONIGHT

"Men and Women," will close its run at the West End tonight. Richard Dix, Neil Hamilton, Claire Adams and Robert Edson head the cast of the picture in featured roles. The story is laid in New York City and tells of a young bank cashier, who steals to make his wife happy by keeping her in pretty clothes.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS

TEMPLE—"Champion of Lost Causes," with Edmund Lowe.
WALKER—Vaudeville and "One Night in Rome," with Laurette Taylor.

YOST—Vaudeville and "Men and Women," with Richard Dix.
WEST END—"The Spaniard," with Ricardo Cortez.

SUNDAY'S ATTRACTIONS

YOST—Vaudeville (five acts), and "The Lighthouse by the Sea," with Louise Fazenda and Rin-Tin-Tin, the wonder dog.

WALKER—Vaudeville (five acts) and "Pampered Youth," with all-star cast.
TEMPLE—"Champion of Lost Causes," with Edmund Lowe.

IMPERSONATE BROADWAY STARS AT WALKER'S

Can you imagine George White, the Courtney Sisters, Pearl Regay, Sophie Tucker, the Dooleys, Ruth St. Denis and Galli Curci on one bill or better still in one act on the bill? Five talented members, two men and three women, of "Footlight Fantasies" bring exciting impersonations of this galaxy of stars together in their reproduction of Broadway stars at Walker's tonight. The company has made a careful study of the stars they impersonate and have all the individual mannerisms perfected. A wardrobe that has been selected with the greatest care, scenery that is a treat in itself together with the harmonizing display of lights make this an act that is classed as one of the best to play the Keith time year after year.

"PAMPERED YOUTH" AT WALKER'S SUNDAY

Superior photography is promised, among other alluring features, in "Pampered Youth," the pictureization of Booth Tarkington's great novel, "The Magnificent Ambersons," which comes to the Walker theater Sunday for a run of three days.

"Pampered Youth" deals with a family living in a small interior city, who take great pride in the display of their wealth. The Ambersons spent small fortunes on their buildings, both inside and out, and "went in" for magnificence rather than taste and harmony. With all their splendor the sets in the picture are sometimes beautiful and the clear mind, deft hand and artistic judgment of expert cameramen were required to translate all their beauty to the screen.

MUSICIANS TO HEAD YOST BILL SUNDAY

Five acts of vaudeville are on the program scheduled for presentation at the Yost theater Sunday and Monday. A resume of the bill follows:

Allen White's Collegiates is a different aggregation. These boys, six in number, play, dance and sing, alone, in duets, trios and quartets and never fail to please audiences to such an extent that the balance of the bill has a hard time following.

"The Rainbow" is one of the most powerful dramatic playlets ever written and yet has a large vein of comedy running throughout the play. An excellent cast of players appear in the sketch, headed by Miss Josephine Worth, who has had years of experience in both stock and the legitimate drama.

The Dixon-Riggs Trio present a novel bicycle and acrobatic act which contains many difficult feats. All three people are acrobats of the sensational kind and never fail to thrill as well as please and entertain audiences.

Sherr and Meehan offer a novelty singing, talking and dancing act full of comedy.

Dorothy Brenner will entertain with songs. She has appeared in all the large theaters in this country and comes here highly recommended. A special setting is used for her act.

EDMUND LOWE HAS LEAD IN TEMPLE FILM

Edmund Lowe, the handsome movie star whose growing fame is one of the sensations of the motion picture world will soon be seen at the Temple theater tonight and Sunday as Robert Loring in "Champion of Lost Causes," a hair-raising story of mystery that never ceases until the startling revelations that the master mind of a mythical mysterious murder syndicate and a handsome young man of fashion are one and the same.

Lowe's richest opportunity for powerful emotional acting is given him in the role of "Loring" and will be Alec Francis, Walter McGrail, Barbara Bedford and Jack McDonald as contributory players, a picture of unusual force has been sent forth from the Fox studios.

Director Chester Bennett who has handled the splendid Max Brand story with enthusiasm from the West Coast Studios of the Fox corporation even before the film was shipped East to say: "Edmund Lowe was great in 'Ports of Call' and in 'The Silent Command' but as Robert Loring in 'Champion of Lost Causes' he is far greater."

"MEN AND WOMEN" AT YOST TONIGHT

The new William de Mille production, "Men and Women" closes at the Yost tonight.

Richard Dix, Neil Hamilton, Claire Adams and Robert Edson are featured in the cast. Hamilton plays an assistant bank cashier (Dix is the cashier), who plunges in Wall street and cleans up a neat sum. His broker gets Dix interested in a deal, and the cashier uses some bank securities to put the thing over.

It is a bust, however, the bonds are lost, and the cashier is branded as a thief—all because his wife wanted beautiful things to wear and he couldn't afford them on his salary.

It's a great situation developed in this production. Everything is straightened out satisfactorily in the end. Henry Stephenson, Flora Finch and other play in support of the featured players.

5 VAUDEVILLE ACTS AT WALKER SUNDAY

For Sunday, Manager Walker of Walker's theater, offers a five-act vaudeville bill that, he says, without a doubt is one of the best shows shown in Santa Ana for some time. Each act has special scenery. Opening the bill is Duncan, star roper of the famous Miller Brothers, 101 Ranch Wild West show. This is his initial appearance in vaudeville, having been recruited from the range on account of his record as a cowpuncher and champion roper of all round-ups and rodeos.

Harry Long and William Jaxon, in "Southland Trains," are two clever singers and dancers. They are real comedians and put their material over in a capable manner.

Cave, Penny and Charles, in "A Musical Surprise" have just returned from an extended Eastern tour of the larger houses, and can be relied on to more than fulfill their billing. This act consists of musical numbers introducing flute, piccolo, violin and piano.

Gruet, Kraser and Gruet have a splendid offering in which comedy and music predominate. "Dixie Dan" is the name of this clever skit which carries all the lure of the minstrel show with the additional combination of excellent instrumental musical numbers, graceful dancing, and the snappiest kind of dusky comedy.

Closing the bill are Tariela and Pickering, who introduce dances of old Japan, a novel diversion where in Jack Tariela, champion slack wire artist performed feats of skill and ability. A pretty scenic drop enhance the presentation.

"ONE NIGHT IN ROME" AT WALKER'S TONIGHT

A thrilling mystery-romance, "One Night in Rome," Laurette Taylor's first venture out of the field of comedy-drama, will come to the Walker theater tonight.

After the success of the film versions of "Peg O' My Heart" and "Happiness," Miss Taylor was eager to appear in a different type of story. "One Night in Rome" was selected because it has the elements of color, romance, mystery and is not lacking in humorous touches.

Laurette Taylor, forsaking the rags of "Peg" and "Jenny," appears as the beautiful young Italian noblewoman who is forced to flee Italy and in order to earn a livelihood as well as conceal her identity, becomes a fortune teller. The "night in Rome," which is exciting enough, becomes a tame recollection compared to the thrilling events that take place later in England in the castle of a British diplomat.

The role played by Miss Taylor, exacting as it is interesting, is no more difficult than that of Richard Oake, the young English diplomat who is the hero of the story.

Tom Moore was the unanimous choice for this part, and he came to it fresh from his success in "Man-handled" and "Big Brother."

"LIGHTHOUSE BY THE SEA" AT YOST SUNDAY

As a playwright who is extraordinarily "prolific" it is not at all strange that Owen Davis is also quite well known in the motion picture field. Warner Bros. have produced a number of his most successful plays on the silver sheet, and more of them are to be produced in the near future. Most interesting of these is "The Lighthouse by the Sea," which Mr. Davis wrote a long time ago and which will play at the Yost theater Sunday and Monday. This picture is just being finished by the Warner Bros. at their West Coast studios with Rin-Tin-Tin, the celebrated dog actor, as the star.

Pretty Home Wedding Is Solemnized By Woman Pastor

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Dana was the scene of a quietly lovely wedding Thursday night when friends assembled for the ceremony which united Miss Thyra Violet Wilson and George Elvin Mitchell at 8 o'clock.

The spacious living room was decorated in blue and white with large clusters of orange blossoms and blue cornflowers used effectively. At the appointed hour the marriage service was read impressively by the Rev. Mrs. F. T. Porter, who, unknown to many of her closest friends even, is an ordained minister of the gospel. The happy young people were deeply impressed by the novelty of being married by a woman minister.

The ceremony took place beneath an archway of ferns, cornflowers and orange blossoms which formed a perfect setting for the charm of the bride, who was crowned in soft blue crepe de chine with silver lace. Her flowers were Cecil Brunner buds and orange blossoms and she wore a spray of the blossoms in her hair. Following the ceremony an hour of congratulations and good wishes was made still pleasanter by the serving of refreshments, the bride cutting the cake herself.

Mr. Mitchell is a Polytechnic high school graduate, a member of last year's class. His bride is still a student at the school. They will make their home at 1213 East First street following their return from a brief honeymoon.

Gathered for the pretty wedding were the bride's mother, Mrs. E. G. Wilson; the groom's mother, Mrs. Helen Hooper, Mr. and Mrs. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Sel-

Pleasant Party Given For House-guest In Dunkin Home

The hospitality of the D. H. Dunkin home on West Fourth street was extended last night to a little group of congenial friends asked to greet Mrs. Inez Graham of Ventura, daughter and house-guest of Mrs. Dunkin.

Mrs. Graham came down to greet her new niece, little Wilma Jean Young, the important small person who joined Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Young at Santa Ana Valley hospital a few days ago, to the delight of the family and friends. Mrs. Young was Miss Eileen Hildreth, also a daughter of Mrs. Dunkin.

Satisfied with her small niece's perfection, Mrs. Graham was to return to Ventura today so the pleasant party of last night was a farewell as well as a greeting. Lively conversation and radio music helped to speed the evening hours and the hostess served delicious refreshments.

Those present included in addition to Mrs. Graham, honoree, Mrs. E. F. Wickersheim and family, Mrs. Bruce Hayes and daughter, Mrs. J. J. Williams, Mrs. Ernest Sawyer, Mrs. Ray Cavit or Orange and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Dunkin.

Miss Thelma Mae Wilson, Miss Mildred Petz, Miss Dorothy White, Miss Elsie Wilson, Miss Lorene Porter, Miss Elsie Lucille Wilson, Mrs. F. T. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. George Elvin Mitchell and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Luther Dana whose marriage was an event of April 8.

Bride of a Year Is Hostess to Former Associates

One of the most delightful occasions recently enjoyed by the teachers of Franklin school, was an evening spent with Mrs. John S. Davidson of Fullerton, who as Miss Ireta Coulson was the school bride of a year ago.

The guests were enthusiastic in their admiration of her attractive home, gay with flowers, and the evening passed all too quickly, while they were engaged in playing various games. After each had tried her hand at making wee dolls of wire and crepe paper, all went asked to find their places at two beautifully appointed tables where the daintiest of refreshments were served.

Enjoying Mrs. Davidson's hospitality were the Misses Nancy Laughhead, Sadie McConaughy, Frances Peterson, Marguerite Williams, Hazel McFarland, Evelyn Gall and Lottie Sweet, principal of the school.

Pretty Dinner Given Ere Departure For Eastern Visit

As a little farewell event before her early departure for a vacation trip to Grand Rapids, Mich., Miss Freda Newberg entertained her business associates, the girls at the Edison office, at a dinner of attractive appointments given last night at the home of her mother, Mrs. D. S. Halliday, 628 East Chestnut street.

Dinner was at 6:30 o'clock and the group of merry girls found their places by means of attractive cards in tones of pink, harmonizing with the general rosy effect of the decorative scheme. This was enhanced by Cecil Brunner buds massed in the center of the table and by the dainty cut cups. Chicken formed the piece de resistance of the dinner menu which was served in courses. Mrs. Jesse Elliott assisted Mrs. Halliday in her pleasant hostess duties.

In the merry after-dinner period, games and radio music were enjoyed. The evening's pleasure reached its climax when the guests surprised Miss Newberg with a shower of lovely handkerchiefs for her to enjoy during her extended stay in the east.

Miss Newberg's guests included Mrs. Ruth Riley, Mrs. A. R. Montgomery, Mrs. Leon Elliott, Mrs. Cella Halliday, and the Misses Henrietta Lykke, Alla Noeley, Mamie Dennison, Lella McDonald, Esther Van Hynning and Inez Petz.

Unique Entertainment Offered on Ebell H. H. Section

One of the year's most delightful meetings was enjoyed Friday by members of Ebell's sixth Household Economics section gathered for luncheon and a social afternoon at the clubhouse as guests of Mrs. Samuel M. Davis and Mrs. L. C. Fairbank. It was matter for regret that the illness of Mrs. John P. Baumgartner made it impossible for her to take her place as the third of the hospitable trio.

Luncheon was served in the section room where tables gave the effect of a garden of wild flowers with their decorations of blossoms widely varied in form and color. A most enjoyable luncheon was served and in addition to the section members, places were laid for a small group of guests, Hazel Landers Hummel, Miss Nelle Sumner and Mrs. R. S. Briggs.

The afternoon program committee, Mrs. O. H. Barr, Mrs. W. H. Smith and Mrs. Herbert M. Sammis, had requested the members to come dressed according to their age in the section, resulting in one of the most entertaining fancy-dress affairs imaginable. A number of very elderly women were present, a fifty-year old "flapper" laughed and flirted, several young matrons were dignified onlookers, small children in rompers played with their dollies and one infant with rattle and long clothes, had to be taken care of by its loving grandmother—none other than Mrs. Hervey Trueblood, one of the members longest connected with the section while the baby was Mrs. Frank H. Peterson who with another small child, Mrs. W. A. Taylor, shared newcomer's honors.

Chapter members who were "old ladies" present were Mrs. W. D. Baker, Mrs. W. H. Smith, Mrs. P. A. Robinson, Mrs. S. M. Davis, Mrs. T. L. Warren and Miss Lida Crookshank. Other chapter members not present were Mrs. George Preble, Mrs. A. M. Gardner and Mrs. J. P. Baumgartner. Other members are Mrs. O. H. Barr, Mrs. G. E. Bruis, Miss Blanche Colings, Mrs. L. C. Fairbank, Mrs. F. P. Jayne, Mrs. J. E. Paul, Mrs. W. A. Procter, Mrs. F. W. Wiesseman, Mrs. Charles Carothers, Mrs. J. W. McCormac, Mrs. John Gowen, Mrs. H. M. Sammis, Mrs. Roscoe Wilson, Mrs. Fred Zaiser and Mrs. John Clarkson. A most delightful jolly time was enjoyed.

At 2 p. m. Mrs. Sammis called the section to order and Hazel Landers Hummel delighted the group with several solos. Mrs. Hummel was accompanied by Mrs. Briggs. Miss Nelle Sumner gave a very interesting talk on "Antiques" and showed many samples of beautiful draperies and rich fabrics.

A report of things sent the Day nursery was given by the secretary, Mrs. T. L. Warren. The splendid list showed 36 pair shoes, three suits of clothes, 93 articles of clothing, 10 dresses, 10 undergarments, 6 hats, 5 bundles of clothing, 23 garments, some new; 5 boys' blouses, 30 pairs of hose, 12 pairs socks, 17 new dresses, 3 comforts, a box of apples, doll bed, child's chair, pongee dress and an overcoat.

The next meeting of the section will be a picnic on June 5 at the new Newport cottage of Mrs. P. A. Robinson.

Let us repeat that we don't blame some men for jumping a train or stepping on an accelerator when the need for new Spring Clothing sets in—

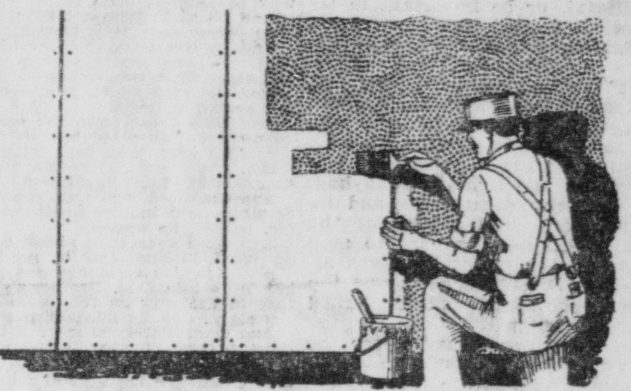

They don't know us—they don't know this stock—they have never been in this store—and they don't know what's in store for them.

If the Santa Ana men now wearing clothes that were purchased in Los Angeles would take the time to drop in here and compare notes and notions—the street cars and busses would sell fewer tickets and the restaurants, hotels and theaters in Los Angeles would do less business—and—

For Wallboard

Applied Like Paint—Looks Like Sand-Finished Plastered Wall

Buttress W. B. Sand-Finish—a new and superior Wallboard coating—produces a beautiful effect that cannot be distinguished from a sand-finished plastered wall.

It comes in 10 standard colors—mixed to the right consistency for immediate use—and is applied with a brush like ordinary paint.

Where alterations are being made on plastered walls, this finish can be applied over the plastered wall as well as over the wallboard extension—producing a uniform color effect.

Buttress W. B. Sand-Finish is waterproof and its great spreading qualities make it decidedly economical to use. It is made expressly for Buttress and sold exclusively by Buttress dealers.

Fire-proof Weather-proof BUTTRESS WALLBOARD Sound-proof Vermin-proof

Buttress Wallboard is made from pure gypsum rock plaster, compressed for strength between two sheets of strong tough paper and then ironed to glassy smoothness. Its use means more all-year-round comfort—a warmer house in winter—a cooler house in summer.

Ebell Plans For Monday's Tea

All members and friends of Ebell society will have the unique pleasure of being entertained Monday afternoon by the newest acquisitions to the club, those members who have joined during the past year, and who will present the program and tea as the week's leading club event.

There are about 25 women who will serve on the hostess committee and Marie Bishop, (Mrs. U. Holmes Bishop) as chairman, is arranging details of the entertainment. The usual card games will be enjoyed with sewing for those who don't care to play. Tea will be served by Mrs. Edward M. Nealley and her Modern Poetry section.

Mrs. Bishop, with her wide acquaintance among musical folk, has been particularly fortunate in obtaining unusual talent for the program which will open the afternoon at 2 o'clock. She has been successful in securing Melville Avery, concert baritone, recently of Buffalo, New York, and vouches for him as one of the finest baritones on the coast and one whose future success will be nation wide.

Mr. Avery has been touring with Gertrude Ross as well as having engagements with prominent organizations of Southern California. His most recent appearance was soloist in "St. Elmo" by Lutz, given at Philharmonic auditorium, Los Angeles, during the past week. It is hoped a splendid audience will greet this artist. Miss Ethel Myer, an accomplished accompanist of Los Angeles, will be at the piano. Among numbers he will sing, will be "The Roundup Lullaby" and "Work" by Gertrude Ross, and "Vision Fugitive" from "Hedraide" by Massenet.

Sunday School Class

Members of "Follow the Star" class of Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church, south, last night passed a delightful evening at Orange county park. The group of young people went up to the park in the early evening, and following dinner, amused themselves in various ways, the entertainment including, among other things, singing and toasting of marshmallows.

The young women were chaperoned by the Misses Frances Donan and Eileen Young. The class members were the Misses Elizabeth Donan, Lucile Donan, Marian Young, Ella Joe Covington, Clarine Palmer, Harriet Koez, Rosaline Morrison, Ramona Harlow, Elizabeth Hemstra, Mary Fine, Ruth Allender and Isabel Dunham.

Business Women's Club

Plans were today being completed for a highly successful party for Business and Professional women at Orange county park on Monday night when the usual mid-day luncheon will be foregone at the inn.

Miss Gallene Finley and her program committee for May will have the details in charge and those who have not already notified her of their intention to go, are asked to call her at once that the committee may know how many to prepare for.

The final Monday in the month is usually reserved for the club's evening meeting but members wished one more "jollification" ere Miss Finley, her aunt, Miss Lulu B. Finley, and Miss Jennie Lasby depart for their summer in Europe.

LOCAL EXPERT WRITES ABOUT INTERFERENCE

May 15, 1925.
Radio Editor,
Santa Ana Register,
Santa Ana, Calif.
Dear Sir:—Aside from the usual "man-made static" and the blooming receiver creating their regular disturbances to broadcast reception, the latest and worst type of interference we have is the amateur operator using the low wave lengths, 40 to 80 meters. His interference is recognized by his "dah-dit-dah-dit-dah-dit-dah-dit" and these signals carry bad harmonics on each multiple of the sender's wave length, namely 240, 280, 320, 360, 400, 440, 480, etc.

The government wireless signal is distinguished from this amateur signal in that the "dah-dit-dah-dit-dah-dit-dah-dit" is missing and the signal is clearer and not "blurbery" as is the usual amateur signal. The amateur obtains his power (plate voltage) from the electric light socket and rectifies it through a home-made box or station rectifier. This has been stepped up from 110 volts through a home-made transformer to from 400 to 1500 volts.

One hundred volts is enough to carry clear across the United States, so you can readily understand that as their tubes and aerials are kept in constant oscillation, that any receiving set in which tubes are oscillating, be it ever so slightly, are bound to be disturbed by these amateurs. The amateurs of late have gone down to 40 meters and are on more or less continuously from 6 p. m. to midnight.

Some change is necessary. Either the amateur must be kept off from, say 6 p. m. to 10 p. m., or a lot of our very best receivers will have to go to the junk pile. In Schenectady, N. Y., amateurs keep silent from 7 p. m. to 11 p. m. We have no person in Orange county officially connected with our radio inspector's office. The boys appoint one of their own members as a "traffic cop" but he is usually biased in favor of his own side so that he cannot see both sides. And if he were not, we have offenders who pay no attention to him.

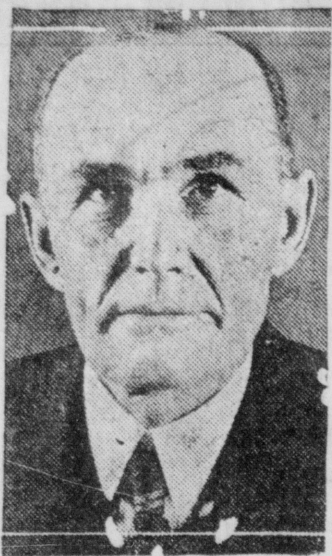

So the only way to get at the remedy is to state your case in a letter to "Supervisor of Radio, Room 215, Customs Building, San Francisco, Calif." This should be done at once so that new regulations may be enacted at the next radio conference in September.

Our supervisor, Major John Dillon, assures me that he cannot tolerate the Department of Agriculture. One of the chief duties of his appointee, N. A. Crawford, who also comes from Kansas State Agricultural college, will be that of directing the radio service of the department of agriculture.

As such, Crawford will expand the radio services of the department to include not only weather and market reports, but lectures and other educational programs for the aid of American agriculture. In other words, he will form a "nation's university of the air."

Many Cooperate
The radio service of the agricultural department will not erect its own broadcasting station, but will have the cooperation of more than 100 private broadcasters for education of the farmers. Lectures, prepared by the chiefs and other specialists of the various bureaus in the department, will be sent

Tested

Secretary of Agriculture William M. Jardine, shown here, has the success of the Kansas State Agricultural college, of which he was head, as foundation for his venture into the national broadcasting field for the education of the farmer.

NATIONWIDE AIR SCHOOL IS PLANNED

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The government is going into the broadcasting business to educate the farmer.

Cooperating with Uncle Sam will be more than 100 broadcasters, scattered through the country. The plan includes the dissemination of agricultural lectures by radio, so that the entire farming population may profit. It is the idea of Secretary of Agriculture William M. Jardine, who hails from the school where radio broadcasting has been found successful.

There, at the Kansas State Agricultural College, the first "university of the air" has already graduated hundreds of agricultural students, who attained their diplomas through radio education alone.

So successful has been this method of education that the college has had its own high-power broadcasting station erected for the purpose.

Special Bureau
Now Secretary Jardine proposes to utilize his experience in this line through his capacity as head of the Department of Agriculture. One of the chief duties of his appointee, N. A. Crawford, who also comes from Kansas State Agricultural college, will be that of directing the radio service of the department of agriculture.

As such, Crawford will expand the radio services of the department to include not only weather and market reports, but lectures and other educational programs for the aid of American agriculture. In other words, he will form a "nation's university of the air."

Many Cooperate
The radio service of the agricultural department will not erect its own broadcasting station, but will have the cooperation of more than 100 private broadcasters for education of the farmers. RADIO COMPASS TO GUIDE BOATS

DETROIT, May 16.—Boats owned by Henry Ford and operated on the Great Lakes are to be equipped with radio compasses. One of Ford's vessels was experimentally equipped with this radio direction-finding device some time ago and the successful results thus obtained are responsible for the order that all boats owned by the multi-millionaire automobile manufacturer be equipped similarly.

The type of compass used on government owned ships and the instrument that is to be applied on commercial craft by Henry Ford was developed by Frederick A. Kolster and Francis W. Dunmore while conducting experiments for the radio laboratory of the bureau of standards.

The radio compass is primarily a safety device and is a means for a ship taking bearings as to location when the light from light-houses cannot be seen because of fog or other unfavorable conditions. "Radio is already a vital factor in the economic and intellectual life of the farmer," said Jardine recently. "The part it will exert in the future is beyond calculation. Its influence on agricultural betterment will be, perhaps, its greatest contribution to civilization."

"I know of no other means of self-improvement attainable at so little expense. Preliminary talks have already been arranged for broadcasting soon."

Things to Know in Building and Operating a Receiver

Slip a piece of paper under each connection when soldering. If a bit of solder or paste falls, the paper will catch it and prevent it smearing up the baseboard. A wet rag around a binding cost will keep it from melting when you are soldering near it.

Jab screws in a cake of soap before you start them, if you would prevent splitting the baseboard. Also, do not put screws near each other in line with the same grain of wood; stagger them.

If there is a possibility of the rheostats shortening on the shield on the panel, cut a piece of mica and place it between the rheostat and the metal shield.

If you have troublesome oscillations in your radio frequency set, try varying the angle of the coils with relation to each other.

To square up the edge of a panel or any other piece of bakelite, use a common wood plane that has been set finely.

Westminster

WESTMINSTER, May 16.—The Westminster Men's chorus gave a concert for the benefit of the Happy Workers society in the church hall here Friday night. There were 16 voices in the chorus, under the direction of Miss Madge Stephens, director. Miss Mildred Marchant was accompanist.

The program included solos by Hugh Rannels and Kenneth Cawthon, a saxophone solo by Clarence Trickey, a violin solo by Matthew Chumel and a clarinet solo by Charles Crafts and Ben Rannels. Miss Marchant gave two whistling solos.

During the program, the Rev. Mr. Weld expressed his appreciation of the evening's music and thanked the men for giving their time for the benefit of the society.

After the program, a dinner was served, with the Rev. and Mrs. R. A. Weld as host and hostess. Covers were laid for 24. Mrs. L. E. Barry, Mrs. R. E. Larter, Mrs. Patricia Johnson, Mrs. Buehler, and sister and Mrs. Thomas Hosack served.

Miss Vera Baker, of Santa Ana, and Loyal Skinner of Westminster, were married at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Presbyterian manse. The Rev. R. A. Weld officiated.

Miss Baker is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Baker, who, until recently, lived in Westminster. The bride was garbed entirely in white, her gown being silk crepe de chine. She wore a white hat and carried a bouquet of roses. The manse was aglow with flowers, pink and white roses, and sweet peas being used in profusion. The bride's sister, Miss Mae Baker, served as bride's maid, while Ray Finley was best man. Only the immediate members of both families were present for the ceremony after which a wedding supper was served in the Baker home in Santa Ana. Those present at the supper were: Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Skinner, Mrs. Mae and Charles Baker, Mrs. Ralph Rumbold, Ray Finley, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Smith, Mrs. O. Gilmore and children, Doyle and Doris Ann, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Tucker, Mrs. S. E. Baker, and the bride's great grandmother, Mrs. C. H. Smith, and the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Skinner will live in Westminster.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Henson, of Los Angeles, recently of Indiana, have moved into the Schlegel home, in the McCoy tract.

Mrs. Laurie Davis, recently of Pueblo, Colorado, has been moved to Long Beach to receive medical care. She is seriously ill with pneumonia.

Mrs. Mary Tilton has returned to her home in Los Angeles, after visiting her sister, Mrs. H. B. Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Terhune, of Long Beach spent Sunday at Orange County park.

At the morning services in the Presbyterian church the talk was given over entirely to children, old and young, the text being "Honor Thy Father and Thy Mother." The church atmosphere was significant with its profusion of pink and white blossoms.

Mrs. I. W. Boud, past president of the Westminster Parent-Teacher association, left Monday morning from Anaheim for Fresno, where she will attend the state convention of the association.

The Misses Leah Hay, Wilma Cozad and Frances Chandler and Jack Thurston, Loten Whitcomb and William Cozad picnicked Sunday in Long Beach.

W. J. Cozad spent the week-end in Hemet.

Mrs. Margaret Conrad has returned to her home in San Luis Obispo after a brief visit here. She was accompanied by her father, Thomas Clarke, and sister, Miss Hortense.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Johnson and family, of Bakersfield, are visitors here in the R. F. Johnson home.

Miss Anna Morgan, with a group of Huntington Beach friends, visited her mother, Mrs. James Morgan, here Sunday.

CITRUS FRUITS WILL EXHIBIT AT BIG SHOW FOR EPIC PLAY

Quality of Display Fruit at Valencia Show Expected To Be Best Ever

ANAHEIM, May 16.—More than 20 individuals, packing companies and organizations have signified their intentions of preparing orange displays for the Anaheim Valencia Orange show, which opens May 22, according to an announcement made by Herman Stern, manager.

That the quality of the display of fruit this year will be the finest ever, is the opinion of Mr. Stern, who points out that the general quality of all citrus fruit this year is better than in previous years.

The citrus division of the show this year will include a score of large displays, fixed and animated, and the entire wall of the display tent, 130 by 250 feet, will be lined with a banked rack display of fruit.

Twelve feature exhibits are being prepared for the show by the various chambers of commerce throughout the southland, and by a few of the packing houses.

The exhibitors, announced by officials of the show, follow:

Randolph Marketing company, Riverside; Elephant Orchards, Fullerton; Villa Park Orchards association, Villa Park; Placentia Mutual Orange association, Placentia; Placentia Orange Growers' association, Fullerton; Garden Grove Citrus association, Garden Grove; Bantechurch Ranch company, Fullerton; Anaheim Citrus association, Anaheim; William Webster, Anaheim; Mutual Orange Distributors, Redlands; Osborne Fruit association, Fullerton; Stewart Fruit association, Fullerton; Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce, Newport Beach; Southern California Gladiola association; Avocado association, Anaheim, and the Anaheim Labor council.

The chambers of commerce that are preparing feature displays are Brea, Santa Ana, Pomona, Los Angeles, Pasadena and Fullerton.

FOURTEEN WEEK RUN PROMISED FOR EPIC PLAY

"Mission Pageant of San Juan Capistrano" Will Have Extended Schedule

MISSION SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, May 16.—A run of fourteen weeks, a performance to be given every Sunday afternoon, beginning on June 14 and concluding September 7, was announced today for "The Mission Pageant of San Juan Capistrano," by the Rev. St. John O'Sullivan, resident pastor, known as "The padre of reconstruction."

The pageant will begin at 3 o'clock, it was said, with special performances scheduled for July 4 and Labor day, September 7, which will close the summer's run.

Very few changes will be made in the cast as selected by Garnet Holme, creator of the pageant, who will direct its destinies again this year.

Hailed last year as an historical play worthy of the title "The Epic Drama of California History," the pageant organization expects even a greater reception this year.

In announcing the plans for the summer's run, Rev. O'Sullivan said: "The pageant will acquaint thousands with the thrilling events of a by-gone day. Perhaps no spot in California has seen more struggle and turmoil in its growth and development than the old mission at San Juan Capistrano."

Captured and held by pirates, an attempt at its founding frustrated temporarily by an uprising of Indians, an outbreak which resulted in the destruction of Mission San Diego, the public sale at auction, and its final restoration to the church by Abraham Lincoln—all these chapters go to give it an historical background equalled by few of California's favored spots."

'TURN TO RIGHT' WILL BE GIVEN BY SCHOOL PLAYERS

PICK STUDENTS TO COMPETE IN FORENSIC MEET

ORANGE, May 16.—As a result of the forensic tryouts conducted Thursday afternoon in the Orange Union high school, the Misses Ruby Gray and Lois Thompson were selected to represent the sophomore and junior classes, respectively, in the county speaking contest to be held soon in San Juan Capistrano.

The sophomores spoke on a four-minute oration, on "Ideal Americanism," while the juniors presented 12-minute essays on subjects of their own selection. Miss Thompson's subject was "Night."

Sophomores who participated in the tryouts were Hal Huff, Robert Hartman, Henry Stoner, Melva Fletcher, Evelyn Pargess and Ruby Gray. The judges is the sophomore contest were George Sherwood, superintendent of grammar schools; L. R. Jones, principal of the Villa Park school, and E. R. Berry, principal of the El Modena school.

The juniors presenting essays were Theodora Mueller, Lois Thompson, Margaret Knuth and Adele Gardner. The judges were chosen from the faculty.

A large number of freshmen entries contested yesterday for the distinction of representing the school in the Capistrano speaking contest, while three sophomores tried out for places in the extemporaneous speech contest. The seniors were the Misses Cleona Strickland, Mary Bowyer and Evelyn Woodroof.

ORANGE GIVES $300 FOR GUNS TAKEN IN WAR

ORANGE, May 16.—Acting upon the suggestion of a committee of American Legion members, the Orange city board of trustees, meeting yesterday in adjourned session, appropriated $300 for the purchase of a captured German cannon, which will be placed, as a war trophy, on the lawn outside the city hall.

The United States government has a number of such captured field pieces in an arsenal in New Jersey, and is furnishing them to the various cities throughout the country, the only condition being that shipping charges on the guns be paid by those receiving them.

A number of California cities have signified their intentions of obtaining the guns and it is probable that if a serious shipment is sent here, the freight charges will be comparatively small.

The council, approached yesterday by the Legion committee was completely in accord with the suggestion that a three-inch gun be purchased and the city clerk was ordered to furnish the Legion adutant here with the necessary money.

YACHT CLUB AT HARBOR OPENS FOR BUSY YEAR

Newport Organization Will Celebrate Anniversary of Club's Birth

NEWPORT BEACH, May 16.—Inauguration of the Newport Harbor Yacht club's 1925 season will be held today and Sunday with a celebration of the club's eighth birthday, general inspection of the N. P. Y. C. fleet and preliminary heats for star boats of three districts.

Flag officers of the Newport club, Commodore William C. Warrington, Vice Commodore Joseph A. Beck and Rear Commodore B. H. Cass, will officially get the Orange county organization under way this year with the inspection of the fleet.

More than 15 entries have been filed for this event and the winner will be awarded the Admiral Albert Soland trophy.

First and second place trophies in the power and sail boat divisions are also at stake.

The inspection will be an open event and craft of other yacht club fleets in Southern California are invited to enter.

Several yachts of the California and Catalina Island Yacht clubs are entered.

Efforts of Commodore Warrington has made it possible for the N. P. Y. C. to step forth with the largest Star boat fleet in Southern California this year.

The fleet will include Admiral Soland's Mike, No. 296; C. E. Langham's No. 298, James Woolcott and Howard Plumb's No. 154, John E. Jordin and C. H. Price's No. 114 and 115, and another one under construction; George Noble's Polux, No. 112; Ben Cope and the club's entry will be sailed by Commodore Warrington.

Babies at Orange Are Found Healthy

ORANGE, May 16.—Only one case of communicable disease, and that a case of whooping cough, was reported to the county health nurse, employed in Orange, during the entire month of April, according to the report of the month's activities received yesterday by the city board of trustees, from Dr. V. G. Presson, county health physician.

More than 60 babies were examined at the five health centers conducted during the month by Miss Jefferson Brown, school nurse.

The nurse made 35 visits to schools during the month and examined 46 students. As a result of physical inspections, four emergency treatments were given in the schools. The nurse interviewed 80 teachers in regard to health work in the schools, and also made eight visits to homes.

Orange Moves to Install Lights On Center Street

ORANGE, May 16.—A resolution approving plans for the construction and installation of ornamental lights on both sides of North Center street, from the north side of East Chapman avenue, to the south side of East Sycamore avenue, was passed by the city board of trustees, meeting yesterday in adjourned session.

The plans provide for 23 lights to be installed on reinforced concrete Marbelite posts, of the same construction as other ornamental lighting posts in the city.

The next meeting date of the council, June 2, was designated as "hearing day," when persons, opposing the movement for the installation of lights, will be given an opportunity to present their arguments to the council.

SUFFERED TWO YEARS

Finally Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Says Mrs. Anderson

Rangley, Maine.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me greatly for pains in the sides and back, headaches and tired feelings. I was suffering two years and it seemed as though I could not get my work done from one day to the next. After reading letters from others who had taken the Vegetable Compound I decided to try it and now I can do all kinds of work, sewing, washing, ironing and sweeping. I live on a farm and have five in the family so am busy most of the time. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and hope my letter will help some one to take your medicine."—Mrs. WALTER E. ANDERSON, Box 270, Rangley, Maine.

Over 200,000 women have so far replied to our question, "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?" 98 out of every 100 of the replies say "Yes," and because the Vegetable Compound has been helping other women it should help you. For sale by druggists everywhere.

"MIKE" SCARES THE STARS

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., May 16.—Movie stars like to talk. They enjoy telling of their "great part" in a film, describing the latest in fashion or boasting of a new roadster.

There's one thing that will hush them up completely. That's a radio microphone.

That this work successfully was proven when a group of stars were paraded before the small circular instrument at Station KFWB at Warner Bros. studio here.

Thousands of persons jammed the sidewalks and streets outside the studio. Through this crowd the film celebrities made their way with perfect ease, nodding here and there.

A few minutes later they were in the sound-proof room shut off from all commotion of the outside world. The gaiety quickly gave way to a hushed stillness.

Yes, they were scared. These same folk, who a few minutes before had jostled their way through the crowd, had their first touch of stage fright before a tiny microphone.

"Me for the studio lot!" exclaimed Patsy Ruth Miller as she dropped wearily into a chair after speaking a scant fifteen seconds. "Why, that thing had me scared to death!"

When Jack Gilbert finished there was cold sweat on his brow. "That's the worst thing I ever went through. Why, I could see four million people out in front of me and couldn't hear any of them!"

"They'll never get me in there again," declared Louise Fazenda

after she had faltered through three short sentences—not at all her usual way of talking.

Many others talked, but with the exception of Monte Blue and Syd Chaplin, both of whom had had previous experience, all expressed the same opinion. It had been the worst ordeal they had ever been called upon to face.

"We'd better stay in the silent drama," the players chimed together after they had made a hurried exit from the radio room.

DEPEND ON RADIO

Music publishers and dealers are beginning a national campaign to "have a musical instrument in every home" with the encouragement they are getting from radio broadcasting.

SPLIT TIME IN CHICAGO

Every broadcasting station in Chicago has to split its broadcasting time with another station on the same wave length. This is due to the large number of stations in that district.

When foot and mouth disease starts among the herds in central European countries, it spreads rapidly over large areas because the infected herds are not destroyed as they are in America.

Last year 100,000 whole hog carcasses were condemned by United States inspectors because of tuberculosis. In addition, there were 1,099,253 parts of hog carcasses condemned because of this disease.

The tenth international convention and exposition of the National Association of Purchasing Agents will be entertained in Milwaukee during the last week of May.

The Reichsheimann Gesellschaft of Germany, which operates 33,000 miles of road and employs 750,000 men, is credited with being the largest railway system in the world.

CHAMBER BLDG. CORNERSTONE AT BEACH LAID

LAGUNA BEACH, May 16.—Commerce bowed to Art in this famous colony of artists, this afternoon, when the cornerstone of the new Chamber of Commerce building, designed by Frank W. Cuprien, one of the best known of the local artists, and himself a director of the commercial organization, the new building will uphold the traditions of Laguna Beach. Set in a grove of the eucalypti for which Laguna Beach is noted, the building will stand out as a gem among business buildings. Furthermore it is expected to be the forerunner of a number of buildings of its type in the business section of town.

Henshaw Heads Committee

After much agitation among all organizations of the town for an act to be passed by the Chamber of Commerce to lead the way. The ceremonies today were held under the auspices of the building committee of the Chamber of Commerce and H. H. Henshaw, its chairman, presided. The others on the committee are Mrs. H. R. Macbeth, Frank B. Chapman, Andrew B. Marshall and James B. Neel.

H. G. Heisler, president of the Chamber of Commerce, opened the ceremonies with a brief talk about the organization, its work and aims. He then introduced Mr. Henshaw as master of ceremonies. Mr. Henshaw called upon Mrs. H. G. Heisler to lead the singing of America. Miss Josephine Hills struck the key note with her violin and played an obligato.

Make Short Addresses

The Rev. W. H. White, pastor of the Methodist church, led the audience in a responsive reading. The Rev. Percy W. Clarkson, rector of the chapel at St. Francis-by-the-Sea was introduced as the orator of the day.

Three minute addresses were made by past presidents in the following order: Elmer E. Jahraus, Roy W. Peacock, Edward M. De Anna and Joseph S. Thurston.

A brief talk was made by Austin C. Boyd, president of the sanitary board, which has co-operated with the Chamber of Commerce by building modern rest rooms in the basement of the new building.

Following the speeches the formal ceremony of laying the cornerstone was held. The trowel was handled by Lynn Watkins, a director of the Chamber of Commerce.

In the box were placed copies of the Santa Ana Register and the Laguna Beach Life containing stories of the record breaking district vote when Laguna Beach voted one hundred per cent to bring in good water, the vote being 359 to 0.

The building design is Spanish with a red tiled roof. There will be an assembly hall and an office for the chamber, the building being 20 by 46 feet. The Chamber of Commerce owns the property upon which the building is being constructed and most of the financing was done by a loan. The sum above the loan value is being raised by private subscription. It is anticipated that the building will be completed in a month.

GAS FRANCHISE IS OFFERED BIDDERS

SEAL BEACH, May 16.—The Southern Counties Gas company, wishing to renew its 40-year franchise granted by the county before the city was incorporated, is permitting the city to advertise for bids for the sale of the privilege. The trustees this week gave their approval to the plan.

Fire Department At Orange Forms Under New Laws

ORANGE, May 16.—The recently reorganized Orange fire department came into existence yesterday, when the 18 volunteer men, selected by A. L. Tomblin, fire chief, were approved through a resolution passed by the board of trustees.

The necessary time period of 30 days after the passing of the ordinance providing for the reorganization of the fire department, came to an end yesterday.

The new company consists of 13 men, in addition to the fire chief and two truck drivers, William Vickers and D. C. Squires. With the exception of five men, the new department is composed of the same members as the old.

The following men signed the oaths of appointment at a meeting of the department, held last night:

W. G. Hagen, C. E. Dickey, A. R. Todhunter, W. H. Price, George M. Andrich, P. R. Davis, Elmer Engsign, O. E. Linnert, F. E. Watson, K. E. McCoy, George W. Horton, P. A. Price, H. D. Ehlen, Charles R. Olds, H. E. Sisson, M. D. Powell, C. A. Pister and M. R. Shampung.

Flower Festival Is Presented By Mexican Women

FULLERTON, May 16.—A flower festival presented by Mexican women of the Placentia Orange Growers Camp, here constituted perhaps the most outstanding feature of Better Homes Week as celebrated in this city.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Alma St. George Tucker, Americanization worker at the camp the Mexican women had been studying the growing and artistic arranging of flowers for some time and on the advent of Better Homes Week decided to make flowers the keynote of their observance of the week in their homes. Each housewife arranged a bouquet and brought it to the school building on Wednesday where a flower festival was held and prizes awarded for the most attractive exhibits.

School Board of Brea-Olinda In Initial Meeting

BREA, May 16.—The newly elected board of the Brea-Olinda High school met yesterday morning with Superintendent of Schools Mitchell and affected the official organization of themselves as a working body.

J. D. Seivers, prominent land owner of the district, was selected as president and George W. Cullen, clerk of the Olinda Grammar school board was named clerk of the high school body. Lots were drawn to determine term lengths with the result that W. D. Shaffer of Brea and M. Mears of Olinda will serve three years; J. D. Seivers and G. W. Cullen, two years, and A. J. Brown, one year.

The first official duty of the board will be the selection of a principal for the new school and applications were received at a special meeting held last night.

ADOPTS SUGGESTION OF PUBLICITY AGENT

Actress Believes Personality Can Be Expressed In Car Adornment

By E. NEIL STANLEY

It's happened!

If you have a good imagination, perhaps you might, after a few years, guess what I saw yesterday. It was at a gasoline filling station at the corner of Main and First streets yesterday afternoon that I espied what seemed to me rather a peculiarly colored automobile, with a pretty, auburn haired young lady at the wheel.

She noticed my inquiring expression and smiled in a friendly sort of way.

"I might as well tell you before you ask me a lot of questions," she said, showing a row of glistening white teeth. "I had my car painted to match the color of my hair."

I gasped. Accustomed as I am to bizarre things, this was almost too much. Before I could open my mouth to ask some of the questions which were surging through my brain, the young lady at the wheel spoke up again.

"You see, it's like this, I'm a movie actress and my press agent told me that this stunt would get me lots of publicity," she declared. Anyway, I think everyone should do something to express their individuality. This is my way. Don't you like it?"

I managed to blurt out that I thought the scheme was immense, that the color was the most beautiful I had ever seen.

By this time the gasoline tank of her car had been filled and with a hasty, "Well, so long, glad you like auburn," she was gone in the direction of Hollywood.

Now, there's no doubt but that the young woman from the movie city took rather extreme measures to express her "individuality." However, I'm wondering if we don't all try to express our "individuality" in some form or other.

Take yourself. If you have an automobile, haven't you got something on it that is just a little out of the ordinary? Perhaps a whistle or an oil derrick or a toy of some kind? These are mild "expressions," to be sure, nevertheless they denote that the owner is trying to be a little different.

I don't believe that the fad inaugurated by the Hollywood miss will gain many converts.

WHOS WHO in Motordom

Here's another Santa Ana pioneer automobile man—Charles L. Davis, Santa Ana manager for the H. H. Dale Motor company, county agent for the Packard motor car. Davis, in addition to handling the Packard for Dale, at the same location, 510 Bush street, has an extensive general repair and service department.

Davis came to this city in 1912 and immediately started to work for the old Guarantee garage, following which he was employed by Lutz and company, who then had the agency for the old E. M. F. and Studebaker cars. Shortly before going to the Lutz company, he was for a time in charge of the Orange service for Buick cars.

In 1913, he entered business for himself, and two years later took the agency for the Chandler. Shortly after disposing of this interest in 1922, he joined the forces of H. H. Dale and is now the local manager for Dale.

In his service department, Davis employs several auto specialists and has won a reputation for delivering the goods in the way of high class service and fair, honest dealing.

Davis states that his business is exceptionally good and gives as his reason for finding it so the fact that he treats all alike and that he guarantees satisfaction. Davis is a member of the Masons and the Elks, and is a charter member of the Santa Ana Rotarians. His recreational hobbies are deep sea fishing, hunting and camping.

In its extensive coal mining operations Pennsylvania uses practically half of the country's total production of permissible explosives.

The production of steel rails in the United States last year showed a decrease of 16.22 per cent as compared with the output in 1923.

ANNOUNCE CUT IN PRICE OF GRAHAM TRUCK

Savings Effected In Manufacture Cause of Reduction, Is Intimation

O. A. Haley, Santa Ana and Orange dealer for Dodge Brothers automobiles and Graham Brothers trucks, announced today that substantial reductions have been made on all Graham Brothers truck chassis.

The one-ton chassis and the 1½ ton chassis were reduced $80 and $95, respectively. Other chassis prices are reduced proportionately, Haley states.

The one-ton chassis formerly sold for $1175 and is now $1095. The 1½ ton chassis, formerly priced at $1375, is cut to $1270. The prices are f.o.b. Detroit, and became effective yesterday.

"In view of the recent announcement that Graham Brothers, in the first quarter of 1925, built more 1½ ton trucks than any other manufacturer in the world, and were second in the one-ton and one and one-half ton fields combined, the reduction is readily explained," stated Haley today. "It has always been Graham Brothers' policy to pass along to the consumer immediately any savings effected through increased production and other factory economies."

"Only last September, Graham Brothers made a sharp price cut in the 1 ton chassis. "The Graham Brothers organization has advanced astonishingly in the last three years. After hearing the comments of the owners of the trucks, I can understand why. The truck is exceedingly attractive in the first place and in addition, is exceptionally rugged and powerful. There seems to be no road, no hauling condition that it cannot master."

"The fact that Graham Brothers trucks are sold through Dodge Brothers dealers means that the truck owners are always assured of any service that may be needed."

CORONER WARNS PARENTS ABOUT TRAFFIC PERIL

Is your child quick—or dead?

One or the other he must be, according to Coroner Oscar Wolff, of Cook county, Ill., where reckless autoists take the largest toll of child life in the United States. "And, fathers and mothers, the responsibility rests with you, as well as with the automobile drivers," the coroner says in a warning issued in connection with National Safety week.

Here is what he says you must do to protect your children: "Keep your boys and girls off the streets. That means you must not send them on errands across streets nor permit them to play where automobiles travel. "Warn them daily of the dangers of traffic."

"Escort the youngest to school, thus personally teaching them the hazards of the streets."

"Of 19,000 persons killed by automobiles in the United States in 1924, 5700 were children," said Coroner Wolff in his warning. "The overwhelming majority of these youngsters were killed while engaged in running errands or going to and from school. In Cook county's huge toll for six months, only three children were killed while playing in the streets."

COMELY WOMEN DEMONSTRATE JOYS OF CAMPING LIFE WITH OAKLAND COACH

"What could be sweeter" for a camping tour by two women than a small camp outfit and an Oakland coach, with rear seat cushion and back of rear seat so arranged that they may be converted into a comfortable bed in just two minutes? Upper picture, Eleanor Young Elliott (frying meat), society editor of the Register, and Miss Lillian Christensen (pouring hot, steaming coffee), secretary to Otto Haan, manager of the Cadillac Garage company, local distributor for the Oakland, enjoy a brief outing in nearby mountains demonstrating camp life. REGISTRATIONS FOR 1925 NOW ARE 1,250,119

Total registrations for 1925 to date amounting to 1,250,119 were announced today by Will H. Marsh, chief of the division of motor vehicles.

This figure is inclusive of automobiles, trucks, trailers and motorcycles. Registrations by classifications was given as follows: Autos, 1,040,631; pneumatic trucks, 145,526; solid trucks, 37,321; motorcycles, 8345; trailers, 18,296.

Last year's total registration was 1,350,759. The difference between the two totals is represented by cars that have been scrapped or by cars not driven since January 31. Many machines are still tied up in the mountains because heavy snows have prevented their use.

A check of the records revealed that 16,697 motor vehicles were registered during the last year that were not exempt from the license fee. Most of these were registered by public service corporations.

Net receipts to date amount to $6,316,457, as compared to $7,011,126 for last year. This money is used for highway purposes by the state and counties.

Advantages For Outing In Closed Car Are Made Self-evident

Otto Haan, manager of the Cadillac Garage company, today was stressing the Oakland coach because of advantages it offers for camping trips.

The coach can be easily converted into a sleeping room—and that is just one of the big features it offers for tours, according to Haan. A powerful motor, easy riding qualities, light consumption of gasoline and fuel oil and light upkeep as regards tires, are other matters that point to the machine as the ideal car for tours.

The bed arrangement is general on all coaches and is not just special with a few cars. By the removal of two screws from the cushion to the back seat, this cushion and the back seat cushion may be converted into a bed, with the front of the bed resting on the foot rail. It takes just two minutes to lay down the bed and possibly another minute to place the bed clothes.

It was pointed out by Haan that when not in use bedclothes may be rolled up on the back seat and that camping equipment may be carried in the tonneau. Use of the cushions as a bed make it unnecessary to carry a tent and other similar equipment.

"The coach is particularly nice for women who want to make a tour," the manager said, "but of course its use is not limited to women, for it may be utilized by men or by married couples."

The Fisher-built body is solid and rugged, is as long-lived as the Oakland chassis, and is exceptional for its riding quality. A rigidly braced hardwood frame, full steel panels in both body and upper structure, and a soft roof afford the maximum of closed body value."

EXAMINE ORANGE CHILDREN

ORANGE, May 16.—Two pre-schools examinations conducted this week in the Maple and Lemon schools by Miss Jefferson Brown, county health nurse, has resulted in the examination of 46 children, between the ages of four and six years, who intend to enter school next fall.

Miss Brown said yesterday that the examination of such a number of children is considered an exceptional success, and it is believed that as many more will attend the examinations in other schools here.

WILL CONTINUE CAMPAIGN FOR BETTER LIGHTS

The drive against motorists who operate their automobiles without due regard to the law on headlights and tail-lights, will be continued, according to a statement made by Henry S. Warner, captain of the state motor police of Orange county.

Captain Warner estimated that approximately 2650 automobiles had been stopped on the highway since May 1, their lights inspected, and orders given regarding cleaning the compartments so that the numbers of the automobiles would be illuminated.

More than 120 persons have been arrested on charges of operating cars without rear lights, without good headlights and because only one headlight was burning.

"The drive against these motorists who seem to have no respect for the law is going to be an all-year affair with us," Warner stated today.

"The Orange county traffic squad is rated as one of the best in the state, and we mean to keep our reputation. We are going to enforce the light laws, if we have to stay on the road all night, every night."

Warner said that persons arrested the first time for not having a rear light were not fined in justice court, but would be dismissed when they displayed credentials showing their lights had been recently inspected at a service station.

"Most of the trouble we have had so far is not with commercial cars, but joy riders," said Warner. "There are a large number of stripped cars in the county, and invariably these are the ones that we stop for some violation or the other."

Several days ago, an automobile was stopped that had no license plates, front or rear lights, or registration card, and the driver was not able to furnish a driver's license. He was booked for all charges and was told to appear before Justice Morrison.

The Santa Ana city police reported the same kind of arrest here Thursday night.

County Auto Men To Hold Annual Meet On June 2

The Orange County Automobile Trades association will hold its annual meeting and election of officers on Monday, June 2, it was announced today by H. A. Shugart, secretary.

At the same time the secretary stated that plans had been approved for a change in the number of directors of the organization.

Crafts represented in the organization are being organized and each craft will recommend one person as member of the board of directors. Under this method the number of the directorate will be reduced from 16 to seven or eight.

The secretary expressed the belief that the new order would be effective in stimulating further interest in the association which, he said, is prosperous and gaining strength every week.

PUBLICITY MAN EVOLVES PLAN TO FIND COPS

Orange county is world famous as an unhealthy place for motor speeders. Likewise the old saying that "one can never find a policeman when he needs one" doesn't go in Orange county, if one is looking for a motorcycle policeman and merely uses the right sort of tactics. According to D. W. Lantz, of Lantz Bros, Santa Ana dealers for Gardner cars, the motorcycle police are really very easy to find. All one has to do is to go out and speed around—and bring the coppers out!

Lantz saw this demonstrated in Anaheim several days ago. A member of the Los Angeles advertising agency that handles the Gardner account in Southern California, called the Anaheim dealership. He had a big idea for a publicity story, that would prove the speed and power of the Gardner Super-Eight. It called for a photograph of the car with two motorcycle officers looking it over. The next problem was to find the policemen. Forthwith the young man with a complement of photographic equipment, jumped in his Gardner and began speeding around trying to find the coppers.

He really had no intention of violating the law, but without realizing it he was soon rolling through the streets of Anaheim at 30 miles per hour.

Simultaneously two motorcycle officers suddenly loomed up in a side street almost at right angles with the speeding car. The officers were in the act of starting their motorcycle engines. Thereupon the publicity man jammed down on the four-wheel brakes of the Gardner, and came to a dead stop in scarcely more than a car's length. The chase was speed then and there.

The two motorcycle officers shot out of the side street with the momentum of their start. They pulled up alongside the Gardner. One officer scratched his head, and then spoke saying: "Say, Mister, what kind of brakes have you got in that bus? I reckon they've saved you about $25. We were coming out to make a fine pin, but we've changed our minds."

The two officers were E. G. Sawyer and J. C. Looney, of the Anaheim police department. They were gentlemen when the mission of the search for them was explained and had no objections to posing for a photograph. The advertising man had dug up the publicity story he had sought, but in a rather unexpected manner, and just a little better than he'd hoped for.

I have seen a great number of careless drivers on the highways, and without exception they were men, some drunk, some just tipsy, and others just plain fools who didn't care anything for the rights of others.

Are women drivers dangerous? As a whole, no!

Petitioners Not To Give Up When Petition "Filed"

SEAL BEACH, May 16.—Anaheim Landing demanded a larger share in the public utilities enjoyed by the western portion of the city, at the trustees meeting this week. A petition signed by 55 residents asking that the city build comfort stations or maintain stations erected by private capital was received and placed on file.

A number of residents of the sandspit east of Anaheim Bay were present and spoke for the measure, alleging that a similar petition presented a year or more ago was ignored. Owing to inadequate facilities all along the city's beaches last year, many complaints were made to the trustees. Petitioners stated they would give the trustees no rest until the matter was settled.

"Anaheim Landing supports the rest of the city," one of the speakers declared, "and owing to the crowded condition of this section during the summer should be properly looked after by the city." One of the trustees replied that sewage disposal on the sandspit was a great engineering problem. The undaunted residents says they will not let the petition gather dust in the files of the city.

The trustees gave first reading to an ordinance prepared by City Attorney Charles Swanner bringing the city police practices into compliance with the state motor vehicle act.

AUTO EDITOR GIVES CREDIT TO WOMEN FOR GOOD DRIVING

Says Some of Best Operators on Road Are of Feminine Persuasion

DENIES CANARD THAT THEY ARE DANGEROUS

Takes Up Cudgels In Defense of Fair Autoists; Tells of School

By HORACE FINE

Automobile Editor of Register. Are women dangerous drivers? Are most of the accidents caused by the carelessness or ignorance of women motorists?

No, to both propositions! None of the best drivers that I have ever seen were women. Speaking generally, the feminine autoist is considerate of the rights of others; she seldom takes chances, and, above all, she tries to observe the laws.

Women Attend School

Up in Portland, Ore., the police department has inaugurated a night school for women drivers. Attendance is entirely voluntary and at the first session more than 200 women were out. The school is one of the schemes of Capt. Frank Ervin, traffic officer, to make automobile traffic safer.

The fact that 200 women voluntarily came to the school is proof in itself that the average woman wants to obey the laws. The Portland officer says: "Good driving is a matter of correct thinking. And we men must admit that most women can think better and quicker. Every day we hear that women drivers are dangerous drivers. I emphatically disagree with the statement."

I certainly agree with the Portland man, and I am glad to hear about the traffic school. It shows progress. It means that the Portland police are taking intelligent steps to correct traffic evils.

Schools Are Fine Idea

Of course, Portland is a much larger city than Santa Ana, and whether a traffic school here for women would be a success I am not prepared to say. It certainly is a fine thing for the larger cities. It would appear that Los Angeles could have a school with profit, although from what I have observed, a school for men is more needed.

Practically 50 per cent of the automobiles on the highways nowadays are driven by women. The majority of them are good drivers. A good many men profess a great fear of being anywhere near an automobile driven by a woman. They have heard of an accident in which a woman was a participant, or perhaps they witnessed one of those rare accidents which were caused by the carelessness or ignorance of a feminine motorist. As a result, they believe that all women are careless, and that it is highly dangerous for anyone to be on the highways if there is a woman-driven car near.

I have seen a great number of careless drivers on the highways, and without exception they were men, some drunk, some just tipsy, and others just plain fools who didn't care anything for the rights of others.

Are women drivers dangerous? As a whole, no!

By RUSSELL BIRDWELL.

HOLLYWOOD, May 16.—A flood of movie press-agency is following in the wake of Ricardo Cortez's sudden rise to stardom with the showing of "The Spaniard."

Cortez is quoted as having denied kinship to Fernando Cortez, time-honored explorer. Another press-agent tells of the various languages the star talks, et cetera.

Cortez and I used to live at the Christie hotel in Hollywood when he was vainly trying to break into pictures under his true name, that of Jack Crane.

Then one night Jesse Lasky, picture producer, saw Crane dancing in the Coconut Grove. Lasky and Rudolph Valentino has just had a row and the "sheik" had left the fold flat.

"There's a man to take Valentino's place," Lasky said to Adolph Zukor, president of the company, as Crane, with greased hair, fox-trotted by.

The film pair talked to Crane and the next day they signed him to a long term contract at $75 per week. Latin names were then the vogue and so they labeled him Ricardo Cortez.

That was a year and a half ago. We used to "kid" Jack by calling him "Corona, Corona." And now he "kicks" us, as the name is bringing him several hundred each week.

Charlie Chaplin and Elinor Glyn, film writer, met for the first time the other night at a party given by Samuel Goldwyn, the producer.

"You are not nearly as funny as I thought you would be," Madame Glyn said to Chaplin.

"You are quite as funny as I imagined you would be," was Chaplin's reply.

The newspapers have printed the last picture of Leatrice Joy and her baby if her boss has his way. Cecil B. DeMille, to whom Leatrice is under contract, has forbidden the actress to have any more pictures of herself taken with the baby. DeMille declared it would "hurt her popularity" with the sheik-fans throughout the country, to be seen in the life-role of a mother.

It is now getting to be a common sight seeing actresses on the boulevard wearing the white wig. A fashion recently adopted from the aristocracy of London society. Corinne Griffith, whose husband, Walter Morosco, is in the gas-heater business, was seen wearing one of the wigs in a cafe.

Marshall Neilan, the director, has just quit working for the man, Louis B. Mayer, with whom he once had a "joke" duel. Mayer and the director, had a quarrel about something and a few nights later, Neilan sprang this one:

"An empty cab drove up in front of the hotel and Louis B. Mayer stepped out."

However, everything is now lovely between the two. Neilan and Mayer have shaken hands and civilization on the Pacific Coast is safe once more.

The film town has a regular schedule for each night of the week. Monday night is the opening of the new shows; Tuesday night Hollywood goes to the prize-fights at Vernon, a nearby suburb; Wednesday night the film crowd dances at the picturesque Plantation; Thursday night the cinema multitude wines, dines and dances in the jungle atmosphere of the Coconut Grove; Friday night they go ice skating at the Palais de Glace; Saturday night is dinner-dance night at the Mon Martre and on Sunday night the filmettes get their beauty slumber, preparatory for the coming week of routine but events—divertissement.

At a show premiere the audience is a myriad human-patter. Opening nights at theaters invariably turn out to be a style show for the actors and actresses in the crowd.

There is Madame Elinor Glyn of "Three Weeks" notoriety, costumed in a slinky black gown which trails the cushioned floor in the foyer. Around her head is strapped a tight, jade-green band. Her hair is slicked down with some brand of movie stacomb. Mme. Glyn is talking to Renee Adoree, the French actress, during the intermission. She is saying that perfume should match one's personality. She advises the actress to use chypre and Black Narcissus to "tune with her vivaciousness."

Alma Rubens joins the duo. Mme. Glyn loses no time in suggesting that Miss Rubens should sprinkle the perfume of Ligeia on her shoulders "to vie with her ultra romantic instincts."

Orchestra in the theater starts up. Signal for the closing acts of the show. I hear Madame Glyn saying to the actresses as they walk to their boxes: "Perfume should waft from the soul. But always remember, dears, to use the scent which is part of you, never one that does not harmonize with your personality."

The high school flapper flipped the ashes from her cigarette.

"Say, how do these movie stars get that way—rolling their own cigarettes? That's a lot o'bother."

She glanced mischievously at the box, bordering on the ice-skating rink where Viola Dana and "Lefty" Flynn were sitting with Viola's two sisters, Shirley Mason and Edna Flanagan.

Dexterously Viola was rolling the cigarette with the "makings" given her by Lefty. She finished the job, sealing the paper with a deft touch of her moist tongue and then inserted it between her rouged lips.

The flapper nonchalantly rose from her seat as her sheik-companion in a red sweater came skating by.

"C'mon, papa's li'l cutie," he cried out whizzing by fancifully on the ice.

"All right, Papa's li'l icicle is warming up," she called out, leaping onto the ice and darting after her partner.

Over in the other box:

"Isn't that terrible, the way those high school kids smoke and cut up," Viola lectures to Lefty and her sisters, as she inhaled a deep draught of the smoke from her rolled cigarette.

PAVING PROGRAM AT BEACH RUSHED

SEAL BEACH, May 16.—With the completion of paving on Eighth street yesterday the Griffith company has finished all the north and south streets from Fifth to Main and is now ready to begin on the paving of Bay boulevard. Bay boulevard has been graded and filled from Anaheim Landing north three-quarters of a mile to where it joins the Santa Ana highway.

The first public highway into Seal Beach and once very narrow, it has been widened to 80 feet. The paving will be handled in three strips, aggregating 34 feet in width, and will be of cement concrete. The job will take nearly a month, and will complete the city's paving program for the year.

Active Program Is Announced By Anaheim 'Y' Head

ANAHEIM, May 16.—Basing its aims more on service to the community than on the number of members who are included in its ranks, the local Y. M. C. A. is a huge success, according to John H. Rudd, executive secretary of the organization who today called attention to the active program of his organization.

Rudd declared that the young children of this city had, in his opinion, every advantage that young people could have.

"The boys and girls of our community are being taught a four-square plan by the Y. M. C. A. which will make better men and women of them," Rudd said.

He also pointed out that activities of the local Y. M. C. A. are not centering so much about the building and headquarters of the organization as they are about the hearts of the members who are learning every day to extend their services and help to any who may need them.

Children in the various Sunday schools and churches have taken up the work with a will, according to Rudd, and many of them are making excellent progress in putting into practice the ideas and principles of the Y. M. C. A. About 100 youths are now connected in an active way with the organization here, and a healthy organization of Girl Reserves are holding meetings each week at the clubhouse of the group.

WILL CONDUCT SAFETY DRIVE THROUGH STATE

Plans for a state-wide safety campaign having as its objective the further reduction in the death rate from automobile accidents were announced today by Will H. Marsh, chief of the division of motor vehicles.

A preliminary step will be the organization of a safety department within the division in charge of a responsible head, where information concerning accidents will be gathered and tabulated and a check kept of points in the state where fatalities are most frequent.

Simultaneously a drive will be conducted throughout the state for the purpose of organizing safety councils and clubs in every town composed of motorists who have pledged themselves to drive carefully. Schools of the state will be asked to assist.

During the same period traffic officers will conduct a strenuous campaign against violators of the law against glaring or illegal headlights.

An extension of sign posting at dangerous points along the highways will be sought and surveys will be made to determine where danger points are located. Causes of accidents will be traced and efforts made to remove them.

In a bulletin issued today to the automobile clubs Marsh points out that concerted action on the part of those interested in safety was responsible last year for a sharp decrease in the death toll. He adds that a further reduction can be accomplished this year.

The first attempt to regulate child labor in China has just been made in Shanghai, where new ordinances are proposed to prohibit the employment of children under 12 years of age and to bar them from engaging in hazardous occupations.

Garden Grove

GARDEN GROVE, May 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Meyer entertained a number of friends at their home on Wednesday evening. The diversion of the evening was "500" with prizes awarded to Mrs. Solomon and Mr. Smiley for holding high score and Mrs. Smiley and Mr. Sleuter as consolation.

Refreshments were served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Doepeke, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dungan, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Smiley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCarty, Mr. and Mrs. Acken, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Roselot, and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Solomon of Anaheim, Miss Fay Hooker of Santa Ana, and Henry Sleuter of Orange.

The W. C. T. U. will hold an all-day meeting at the Washington grammar school, Wednesday, May 20. The members will meet at 10 a. m. and hold a business session and arrange tables for a covered dish luncheon at noon when the teachers will be guests of the union. The program will begin at 2 p. m. in the auditorium. Mrs. F. G. Watkins will have charge of devotions and a parliamentary drill will be conducted.

Mrs. W. B. Merchant, the newly appointed superintendent of the anti-narcotic committee, will conduct a program on that department and twelve of the 235 essays written on the subjects of alcohol and tobacco will be read and prizes awarded as offered by the W. C. T. U. Three prizes will also be awarded the high school students who entered the essay contest.

The Tuesday afternoon club was entertained with a 1 o'clock luncheon at the beautiful new home of Mrs. Frank Mills this week.

The yellow color scheme was carried out in the table decorations with violets and maiden hair fern and tiny yellow crepe baskets tied with maline as favors. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. Evans of Compton.

Following the luncheon a review of Marcus Whitman's Life was given by Mrs. Gladys Head. An election of officers was held with the following elected: President, Mrs. R. F. Head; vice president, Mrs. Charles Selover; secretary, Mrs. E. M. Dozier; treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Knapp, and corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. O. Arkley.

Twenty women were present including the following guests of the club, Madame Goulet of Montreal, Canada; Mrs. Semet and daughter of San Diego, who are guests at the Mills home; Mrs. Cannon of Santa Ana; Mrs. Phillips of Compton and Mrs. Emmett Smith of Garden Grove.

The C club met at the home of Mrs. R. R. Roselot on Tuesday afternoon. After a pleasant afternoon spent sewing and playing "500," the hostess served refreshments. Plans were made for a grunion fishing party at Anaheim Landing on May 23.

Guests of the club were Mrs. Bert Cloyd of Yuma, Ariz., who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Thomas Plant, and Mrs. Fred Doepeke. Members present were Mrs. R. W. Solomon of Anaheim, Mrs. H. Hevener, Mrs. C. J. Paull, Mrs. Jeff Long, Mrs. E. E. Miles, Mrs. Thomas Plant, Mrs. Harry Meyer, Mrs. Charles McCart and the hostess.

WIRELESS WILL TELL EACH DAY OF POLAR TRIP

BY PAUL R. MALLON,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Copyright, 1923, by United Press

WASHINGTON, May 16.—From the frozen Arctic a polar explorer these coming summer evenings will tell the story of his daily battle with the elements to folk on the front porch back home.

This prospect was made known today when plans of Commander Donald R. MacMillan, leader of the crusade which starts next month, were obtained by the United Press.

MacMillan, companion of Peary when he discovered the north pole, has made arrangements to carry radio equipment that may even enable naval flyers to send back their reports from frozen wastes where man has never been before.

Keep in Daily Touch
Arctic explorers of the past have been lost to sight for months and even years. MacMillan plans to keep in constant touch with the world.

His expedition will leave Boston June 17, proceed to Wisconsin, Me., where final departure will be made, probably on June 20, for Etah, the ship base at the northern coast of Greenland. Arrival at Etah is expected between July 25 and August 1. Aboard the two boats will be eight navy flyers and mechanics, who will set up a base at Cape Hubbard.

From Cape Hubbard, the flyers expect to dart hundreds of miles northward and westward, in search of a new continent which is expected to lie out in the vast unexplored wastes.

MacMillan will set up his wireless at Etah and his station will be known as WNP—meaning wireless north pole. It will send on a 20-meter wave length for code words.

Planes to Carry Sets

The airplanes will be equipped with sets which will enable them to reach Etah from the unexplored regions which they expect to cover in search of the new continent. MacMillan hopes, although he is not reasonably certain that he can accomplish it—to relay their voices to the states.

The ships upon which MacMillan plans to push up through the ice from Etah toward the pole are equipped with radio which will keep them in contact.

Never for a moment, if all goes well, will any member of the expedition be outside telephone distance of home, although he may be months away by ship.

A number from here attended the Matrons' Silver Medal Oratorical contest held in Huntington Beach, Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Anna Field of El Modena, won the medal on the selection entitled "The Story of Patsy." At the close of the program a beautiful pine tree planted on the lawn at the city hall by the W. C. T. U. was dedicated with appropriate exercises in honor of Mrs. Frances Clark, the retiring president of the Huntington Beach W. C. T. U.

The Garden Grove members of the Woman's Relief Corps put on the program at the monthly tea in Santa Ana Friday afternoon. Mrs. G. F. Crane had charge of the program and those taking part were Mrs. Emma Cleveland, Mrs. Roepeke, Mrs. K. S. Hendricks and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Harper. Miss Aileen Lair entertained with several piano selections.

Mrs. Clara Fulson entertained the following dinner guests on Sunday: Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Fulson and daughter, Craig, and Mr. and Mrs. James Clark of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Freeman of South Pasadena.

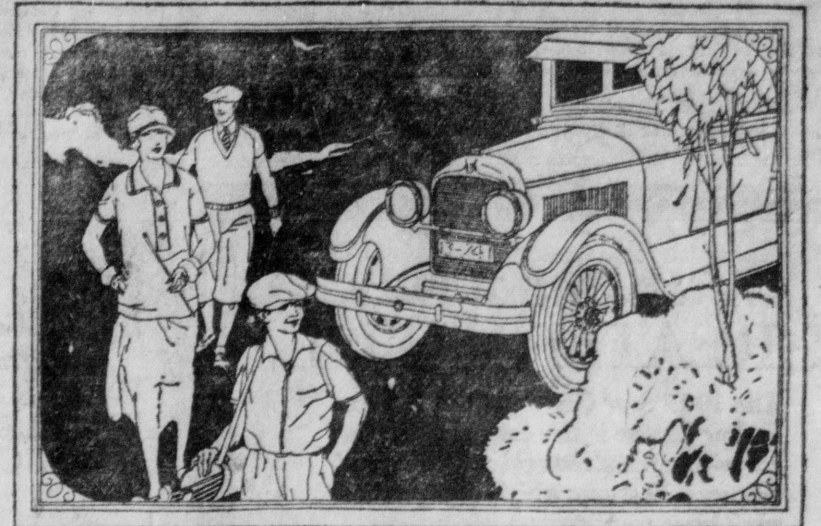

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett McBride were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Therman Means in Santa Ana Thursday evening.

Miss Mildred Martin of Huntington Beach and Arthur Woodworth of Los Angeles were week-end guests at the J. M. Woodworth home.

Marion Harris left Thursday on a two weeks' snouting and fishing trip to Bishop.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ford of Venice and Mr. and Mrs. George Helm of Bakersfield visited at the home of Mrs. Ford's sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Wells, Thursday.

Roy Williamson and George Elson of Los Angeles spent Tuesday with the former's mother, Mrs. Joe Williamson.

PRIVATE TRADE REVIVAL SEEN NOW IN RUSSIA

MOSCOW, May 16.—Just about four years ago the Soviet government introduced the Nep, or New Economic Policy, which legalized private trade and introduced an element of capitalism into the communist structure of the Russian state.

Today, after several vicissitudes and changes of policy, the Nep is acquiring a firmer foundation and the private capitalist trader is being accepted as a more or less permanent figure in the life of the country.

It is now generally recognized that the state and cooperative commercial organizations are incapable of handling the whole trade turnover of the country and that the former policy of pushing the cooperatives through subsidies and easy credit conditions and crushing the private trader by imposing heavy taxes and refusing to sell him goods except for cash must be given up.

Cooperatives Not Successful.
The drive to supplant the private trader with the cooperative was at its height last summer. Toward fall, the unpaid bills of the cooperatives began to assume formidable proportions and Premier Rykov proclaimed the need for a new trade policy at the Trade Union congress. The credit demands of the cooperatives were cut down and private traders found it easier to buy the products of state industries.

Now more positive steps are being taken to encourage the revival of trade. The Council of Labor and Defense has just published a resolution directing that the excessive taxation, which has driven some 200,000 private traders out of business, be cut down; that the practice of demanding 100 per cent cash payments from private dealers be stopped and that conditions be made easier for the peasants who are trading with their products.

Private Capital for Trade.
A meeting has just been held in the Trade Union hall for the novel purpose of discussing ways and means of attracting private capital into trade. Several spokesmen for private capital were permitted to present their side. They set forth the complaints of heavy taxes, difficulty in buying goods, high rents, discrimination against their children in the schools.

The government representatives did not promise to make an end of the social discrimination, but they gave assurances that taxes would be brought down to a bearable level and that private business men would be given credit in the banks and easier access to the products of the state industries.

It should not be imagined that the Soviet government is throwing over the cooperatives altogether.
On the contrary, an appropriation of ten million rubles has just been distributed among various cooperatives according to their needs and every effort is to be made to build up an efficient network of cooperative stores in such industrial centers as Moscow, Leningrad and the Donetz basin.

Trade Requires Capital.
But it is recognized that trade now needs every ruble of capital it can get, whether from state or private sources; and so wider scope will be given to the private trader, especially in the provincial districts where a serious shortage of goods sometimes manifests itself as a result of the unwise policy of pushing out private stores before the cooperatives were capable of taking over the business themselves.

SPECIAL TOOLS CITED AS AID WITH CADILLAC

According to Otto Haan, president and manager of the Cadillac
Garage company, an important contributing factor in the economy of operation of a Cadillac car is an assortment of specially designed tools for maintenance operations which have been developed by the technical department of the Cadillac Motor Car company during the past 11 years.

Some of these devices have reduced time charges on individual operations to one-fourth and even to one-tenth of what they would be without the special tools.
There are 118 of these devices which are standard equipment in Cadillac maintenance stations. Each has been developed and supplied to distributors and dealers throughout the country for two main purposes—either that a particular operation may be performed with the same accuracy as is used in Cadillac manufacturing, or to reduce the time required for a single operation.

D'ya remember when you paid out about 25 bucks for a battery to fit the old tin lizzie? Them was the days when you bought the battery and a lot of 'free' service whether you craved the 'free' service or not. And after that when you drove up to the curb to have a little H²O shot in the battery you kinda had a hunch you were gettin' something for nothin'?

Remember? 'Course you do!

Well, as you know, those days are gone. Now—today—you lay out about sixteen fifty for a snappy battery to fit the old packet. And when it's time to feel it's pulse you drive in the service yard, get a real test and some red hot information for which you are set back only one and one-half thin dimes.

My how times do change!

Billy Evans Says

Two veteran pitchers, George Uhle of the Cleveland Indians and John Scott of the New York Giants, are the early season heroes in the majors.

Both are staging the tightest kind of comeback, each pitcher having won his first three starts.

During the 1923 campaign George Uhle was the most effective right-handed pitcher in the American league. Last season he was unable to hit the .500 mark in games won.

Why so sudden a reversal of form?

Last season Uhle, for five or six innings, would look like the star of 1923, only to falter. He had trouble finishing a game, no matter how impressive his start.

Arm Lost Power.
After taking his arm for about half the game it would seem to suddenly go dead, lose its power. His failure to win was blamed on an ailing arm.

This spring, during the Florida training period, no pitcher worked harder for condition than Uhle. As a result he opened the season fit, perhaps 15 pounds lighter than last season. He paid particular attention to his arm. It shows it.

The Uhle of the first month of the American league campaign looks like the Uhle of 1923. He is stronger at the finish than the start.

Perfect physical condition, a smaller waistline, appears to have entirely eliminated the arm weakness that seriously handicapped his work last season.

Uhle looks to be in for a great year. That means much to Cleveland.

Reads Like Fiction.

The other early season surprise is John Scott, whose pitching career reads like a page from fiction. Several years ago the Cincinnati club of the National league gave John Scott his unconditional release. He was regarded as through, his arm having gone back on him.

Manager John McGraw of the New York Giants picked him up, sent him to several specialists and before the season was over Scott, by his work in several games as relief pitcher, gave evidence of still being able to deliver in the big show.

In the world series of 1922 with the New York Americans, Scott surprised the baseball world by turning in a shutout victory for the Giants. It established his comeback.

While that game put him back in the good graces of McGraw, the world series of the following year proved his undoing.

Relegated to Minors.

Here's the story: In that memorable sixth game of the 1923 classic, in which Neph suddenly lost control, McGraw looked around for Scott to save the day and discovered he hadn't even reported for the game.

Scott, as punishment, was relegated to the minors. He had a big season with Toledo in the American association and McGraw, in need of pitchers, brought him back. Down at Ft. Myers, Fla., this spring, just before the start of a game with the Athletics, Hughie Jennings told me Scott, at the time, was the most reliable pitcher on the staff.

FOUR DIAMOND GAMES CARDER FOR TOMORROW

Tomorrow's Baseball
Pacific Electric at Irvine.
Shields Paint Co. at La Habra.
Bowman-Preble at Richfield.
Santa Ana Woodmen of World vs. Westminster at American Legion park, Santa Ana.

COLLEGIANS ANNEX FIRST LEAGUE FRAY

Baseball, king of all spring and summer sports, comes into its own in Orange county tomorrow afternoon. Four games, involving eight teams of this district, will be seen in action.

Irvine makes its first bid for the semi-professional championship of Southern California when it entertains the speedy Los Angeles Pacific Electric. This is the opening game for the Beapickers in the Summer Major league and Managers Harry Jessup and Arthur Trickey expect a record crowd. Al Miller, Irvine's flinger, is billed for turrel chores.

A new Santa Ana ball club, representing the local order of the Woodmen of the World, makes its debut at American Legion park where it battles Westminster. The Woodmen will lineup as follows: Sebastian, p.; Davidson, c.; Kolb, 1b.; Captain Schweitzer, 2b.; Brady, ss.; A. Beard, 3b.; C. Beard, lf.; Miller, cf. and Gross, rf.

Another recently organized club, the Bowman-Prebles, travel to Richfield. "Husky" Jackson will twirl with Le Bard behind the log. Other capable ball players available are Potter, Burns, Krueger and Meyers, infielders, and Griffith, Boyd, Burns, Schoele, Mathews and Preble, outfielders.

Manager W. C. Woods will take his gang of Shields Painters to La Habra for a set-to with the crack Standard-Murphys. This will be the last session of these strong teams before the opening of the Orange County league in which both are enrolled.

The Painters organized about three months ago and have won nine games, lost five and tied one.

Callahan, Bush, Norek Make Good In Texas Circuit

Perry Callahan, Johnny Norek and "Donie" Bush, three well known Orange county baseball players, have won regular berths with Temple in the Texas association and are playing great ball.

In the opening game of the season, which Temple won, 13 to 4, Callahan banged out a homer with the bases full and also connected for a triple. Norek got three blows, including a double, out of five trips to the dish and Bush hit safely twice out of four times. Callahan is playing right field, Norek right field and Bush is at shortstop.

NEW PLAYERS SHINE IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

The work of certain new players in the American league this year bears out the contention that one player often makes a ball club. Ike Davis, shortstop, appears to have plugged up the weak spot on the Chicago White Sox. Another White Sox youngster to make the grade is Outfielder Spencer Harris. For the Cleveland Indians the fine play of Spurgeon at third base has rounded out Tris Speaker's infield. Bob Knobe, at first, has been another link in the success of the Cleveland club. At Philadelphia, Connie Mack picked up a very capable first sacker in Jim Poole from Portland, Ore. Dixon of the Browns and Cochrane of the Athletics already have established themselves as big league receivers.

GINGHAM DOGS, COAST BOWLING CHAMPS IN 'BOOSTER' CLASS, RETURN TO S. A.

Bringing with them the Pacific Coast championship for the "Booster" or 800 average class, the Gingham Dog and Calico Cat cafe bowlers returned to Santa Ana today from the great Pacific Coast Congress at San Francisco. Members of the team are Herman Ecker, Mason Yould, H. B. Woods, Charles Dawson and Don Keir.

The Fluor Construction company squad composed of Guy Martin, Bill Gordon, Max Ames, Penny Jones and "Larry" Harrison will be back by Monday.

The Gingham Dogs shot 2496 pins in their five-man event. This was 60 pins more than were knocked over by the Venice Lunch team which captured the Booster division honors last year. The championship will net the local men close to $200.

Max Ames, star of the Fluor quintette, is certain to bring home some fat purses in the unlimited division for he had better than a 190 average for his nine games in the five-man doubles and singles events. Woods is expected to finish well up in both singles and all-events in the 160 average class and Dawson took second in the doubles in this section.

Members of the Santa Ana team had the highest praise for the manner in which the tournament was conducted. They said they were given a great send-off by the packed gallery when they went on the drives for their matches and that all the Southern California delegation was "pulling" for them throughout.

Although Reno, Nev., was in a bid for the 1925 Congress, the classic probably will be awarded San Diego.

Scores of the Santa Anans in singles and doubles follow:

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—Southern California track stars will see no action for the final time this season in the annual A. U. championship meet this afternoon at the Los Angeles coliseum.

Leading collegiate and high school stars of the Southland will take part in the full slate of events, and many records are expected to fall. Many of the track performers will make their final appearance under the banners of their alma maters.

MOSTIL SHOWS SPEED.
Johnny Mostil of the White Sox seems bent on grabbing the base-stealing laurels from his manager, Eddie Collins, this season. In the first three weeks of play Mostil swiped an even dozen sacks, giving him a big lead in both leagues. He stole only seven bases all last year.

TIMELY SWATS WIN FOR S. A. INDOOR STARS

George Martin's single, Bill Fernandez's triple to left-center and Don Hillyard's double to center—three clean bingles almost in a row—gave the Santa Ana All-Stars a 4 to 2 victory over Ontario's crack indoor baseball team at Poly field last night.

The hits by Messrs. Martin, Fernandez and Hillyard were of the most timely nature and came in the last of the eighth inning after the visitors had tied the score at two-all in their half of the same chapter.

The eighth inning rally broke up a fine pitcher's battle between Tommy Hitt, the high school youngster who hurls for the Kiwanis club in the City league, and Harper, a sheik-looking fellow who made the girls like it when he smiled. The twirlers were stung as pawnbrokers with their base-bits, both putting out but five. Harper issued one base on balls and it cost him a run in the first inning, Wilkes getting the ticket and rambling around the sacks while Harper was disposing of Echols, Fluor and Nelson.

Ontario tied the score in the second when Mattie reached first on an error and scored when "Eeny" Wilcox shot at the stars to nab his man stealing second.

Successive raps by John Lutz and Fernandez put the locals out in front in the sixth again but the visitors knotted things in the eighth on another error. The locals' batting spurge in the last of this stanza decided the issue.

The Roehm-Sylvester defeated the Chandlers, 9 to 8, in a wild and woolly City league fray that preceded the Santa Ana-Ontario fust. The box score:

Santa Ana A.B.R.H. Ogan, 2b., 4 0 2

QUATRAIN BIG FAVORITE TO TAKE CLASSIC

Chantey Also Well Liked; Earl Sande to Be Up On Flying Ebony, Long-Shot

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16.—The pulse of the turf world quickened to Kentucky derby tempo today as the largest and most colorful crowd in Louisville's history, probably 100,000 persons, gathered for the 51st running of the historic $50,000 stakes.

The largest field that ever faced the barrier in the classic of the American turf was to go to the post late this afternoon, 25 thoroughbreds having been left after the books closed last night. Two or three scratches today would still leave the field the largest in Kentucky derby history.

With the possibility of showers, there was an unusual amount of speculation about the chances this year of that group of heroes known as the "mud larks". The weather was clear this morning, however, and the track fast. Rain that was expected during the night did not materialize. The temperature at 7 a. m. was 59.

Quatrain Is Favorite
Frederick Johnson's Quatrain, winner of the New Orleans handicapped and the Louisiana derby, was the favorite and it was thought that the colt would be backed down to odds of 3 to 1 by post time.

Watched over by vigilant guards armed with sawed off billiard cues and convenient pieces of lead pipe against the possible machination of some stable sneak, the derby entrants all came through the night in good condition and there was lots of money in sight for the thoroughbreds that will oppose Quatrain when the barrier goes up.

Flying Ebony, a stable companion of Coventry, which won the Preakness last week, will carry Earle Sande and the presence of the country's leading jockey astride this black streak will attract much of the derby crowd's currency.

Mrs. Payne Whitney's Chantey, the good three-year-old colt which won his first time out at Havre de Grace, but was beaten later, will have many supporters especially since Chantey is coupled in the betting with the H. P. Whitney colt, Backbone, to say nothing of Whitney's other entrants, the Bar and Rembrandt.

Like Kentucky Cardinal, which will be ridden by Mack Garner, will have a following because of its name and because it was owned until a short time back by Desha Breckenridge, a Lexington, Ky., newspaper man who sold the colt for $70,000.

Almaden, which finished third in the Preakness, will have many backers and then there is Captain Hal, A. A. Kayser's much-fancied colt and the Scott and Grabner entry, Son of John and Step Along.

Louisville swarmed with racegoers early today and special trains brought additional thousands every little while. Hotel accommodations last night were at a premium, with billiard tables and chairs pressed into service for late comers who sought a bed.

REPUTATION WITHDRAWN FROM BIG RACE
LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16.—Reputation was the only horse withdrawn from the Kentucky derby at the usual time of scratching early today. Horsemen have until 45 minutes of post time to withdraw their horse if the yearling.

There can be no added starters.

EVENING SALUTATION

To keep my head above the crowd
Of men and markets,
And do my task with thoroughness—
Feet on the ground
And mind intent
On the duty of the moment.
Thus serenely will I play my part
And let the mad rush
Go by,
Leaving me undisturbed,
And working Steadily on!

J. P. WILLIAMS

The death of J. P. Williams yesterday brought to an end the life of another of Orange county's sturdy pioneers. He came to this country when its future was problematic, when hardships and crudities of life were the common thing and taken as a matter of course by most of those who lived here at that time. But there were a few, Mr. Williams among them, whose vision and faith led them on toward better things for their communities. The development of irrigation, the development of the citrus industry and the abolition of the saloon—these were three of the numerous matters in which Mr. Williams was deeply interested and to which he devoted himself. It took strength of character and mentality and a faith that the younger generation may not understand to fight the battles that pioneers had to fight.

Many of our citrus growers today have no conception of the years of discouragement that the pioneers in the industry went through. It is hard for them to appreciate the high value of the service rendered to the county by those whose sacrifices are so little understood by many of those today reaping a harvest in the industry. The loss of vineyards by the Anaheim disease, lack of an adequate supply of water, attacks by San Jose scale that wiped out scores of orange groves, year after year in which orange shipments brought nothing but red ink—that is a history of the citrus growers who remained through the '80's and '90's, and worked out for those of us who live here today a heritage of many millions.

Mr. Williams's life, however, is reflected not only in the industry with which he was connected for many years. It is reflected in the moral tone of the community. He was a man of outstanding integrity, and fought for the thing he knew to be right. He and his beloved wife were among the pioneers in anti-saloon work, in years when the fight against the saloon was distinctly unpopular.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams had the good fortune to live through their years of adversity into years of comfort, to see the industry and the community in which they lived prosper, to see the cause for which they fought in Orange county forty years ago become a nationwide reality, and to see a family of children grow into men and women of exceptional value to their communities, reflecting in their own personalities and successes the strengths of character and mind and body that brought their parents through rugged years of pioneerhood.

IT'S WORKING SATISFACTORILY

In view of the fact that the directors of the Santa Ana Community Chest, in accordance with its by-laws, have called the annual meeting of the chest organization for June 1, it is of interest to the scores of men and women to observe that the Community Chest has worked out in a satisfactory manner in Santa Ana, as it has in nearly every city where it has been instituted.

On May look back upon the six months that have passed since the drive for funds for the chest was made and remark upon the freedom he has had from drives during that time. It took no more work to put over the Community Chest than it did to put over each of several drives for funds for organizations that are represented in the chest.

It is observed, too, that the Community Chest is operated practically without any overhead expense. The campaign costs were remarkably low. At the meeting of the chest directors this week, it was pointed out that the bills incurred during the past three months did not average more than $5 a month. The wisdom of maintaining the Community Chest as a permanent organization is thoroughly demonstrated.

HOLLAND MAKES MORE LAND

The little country of the Netherlands might very well claim as its own the slogan "a bigger and better country," for it is literally enlarging its area in the next few years.

Holland is performing this miracle of adding square miles to its territory by draining a large section of the Zuider Zee and putting the ground under cultivation.

To much of the rest of the world Holland has long seemed a land wrested from the sea and forever guarding against the sea's return. The courageous little boy stopping the hole in the dyke with his finger has seemed typical of Holland. It is forever bringing submerged land into the light of day and putting it to good use. Since 1900, Holland has reclaimed 300,000 acres of such land. The present plans were prepared before the World War. They will add 540,000 acres to the country's present extent and leave only 250,000 acres still under the Zuider Zee.

When that body of water is completely drained and Holland needs still more acres for expansion, will it start work on the North Sea?

MAGIC THROUGH SPACE

Photographs of the American navy in action at Hawaii are sent by radio 5,000 miles, from Honolulu to New York. A tiny beam of light, shining through the negative, clearly or dimly as the point it is passing over is light or dark, regulates the carrier waves very much as the little needle in the phonograph regulates the sound waves.

The process in this case is by no means as simple as ordinary radio transmission. Instead of going straight through the air from starting point to receiving point, the magic pictures have had to take seven "hops." First the vibrations had to go as ordinary telegraph waves 29 miles from Honolulu to the radio transmitting station. They were caught again 2,400 miles away, by a receiving station at Marshall, California, which turned them back into telegraph current for a wire relay of 19 miles to another wireless sending station. That shot them across the continent to the radio receiving station in New York.

But the mysterious carrying waves did not stop anywhere. They went right on, regardless of transformations at the various stages of their journeys, reproducing very minute point of light or shade in the original negative with an imperceptible fraction of a second. And in 20 minutes from the beginning of the process, there was a complete positive photograph in the New York office.

Here is modern magic of a kind never imagined in the Arabian Nights. But we are sated with scientific wonders, and take such things today as a matter of course.

Riverside Enterprise.
E. M. Daugherty, corporation commissioner for California, spent the better part of yesterday in Riverside and last night spoke to the Ad Club members and guests relative to the possibilities of a better business bureau for Riverside and what such bureaus have done in other cities where they have been established. He spoke in an intimate way and with knowledge of his subject.

Daugherty has been one of the most hard working and efficient men in public life in California in recent years. He was appointed to office prior to the election of Governor Richardson and has been retained in office by the latter on merit. The Governor has kept others in office who were appointed before his time; but none of them have stood out with such prominence as Daugherty, who is fearless and honest, two qualities that will go a long way with any man in public office.

The corporation commissioner of California has a tremendous task to inspect every corporation permit that is granted in the state. The number runs into thousands each year and the cleverest lawyers of the state are employed to prepare the applications for permits. They know exactly what the limitations of the law are and the clever tricks that are possible to resort to in putting corporations over with permits to sell their securities to "Moron investors" as one glib type has been dubbed.

Through the efforts of Commissioner Daugherty amendments to the old corporate securities act have passed both houses of the legislature during the session just closed and will doubtless be signed by Governor Friend W. Richardson, which corrects some of its weaknesses and puts more teeth in it for the protection of innocent investors and the public in general, as well as the legitimate corporation and business interests.

It takes longer in most states that have blue sky laws to secure a permit to start a corporation than it does in California. Despite the fact there is much impatience on the part of applicants who are seeking to sell securities. That is natural. But it is to the public interest that their projects should be carefully investigated prior to issuance of a permit to see that every requirement of the corporate securities is met.

C. C. Young In the Running

Fresno Republican.
One of the shoddiest of political tricks is that of endeavoring to eliminate the candidate that you are afraid of from the political field. Candidates should be eliminated in but one of two ways—either by the man himself, or by the people who would be called upon to vote him into office. Any other method of elimination is against public interest.

Something of the sort seems to be attempted in the case of Lieutenant Governor Young. Mr. Young has been among those mentioned for governor for some years. Whether he will make the race depends upon many things. But he has not eliminated himself. Neither has he been eliminated by the people of California. In fact, he was re-elected last time as lieutenant governor by a remarkable vote.

Mr. Young is the only man, with the single exception of John M. Eshleman, who has been elected lieutenant governor with credit to the office. In other cases, it has been the office that has credited the man. Mr. Young has been for many years an active and an intelligent public servant, in positions which yielded little money and to which he has given much endeavor.

Whether the particular conditions will create a demand for Mr. Young's being candidate for governor a year from now depends upon many political factors. But at least there should be no canards run on him, to push him aside as inconsequential to the people of California. He is an important factor in California affairs.

Highway Betterments

Long Beach Press-Telegram.
A great deal of reconstruction work on the highways of Southern California is to be done this year. Cost of the work will approximate $1,700,000. Especially notable is the projected elimination of several dangerous grade crossings. This is to be effected by constructing either subways or viaducts to promote safety. There is also to be considerable straightening of dangerous curves and reducing of heavy grades. This type of betterment will be welcomed in this section. There also is to be widening of main highways, in some places.

Construction and maintenance of highways today involves features that did not present themselves a few years ago. Traffic has increased to such enormous proportions that the problem it presents is staggering. Highways must be wider, to accommodate the increased number of machines and vehicles. Construction must be more substantial, to stand the wear and tear of the huge volume of traffic, much of it heavy. And there must be careful consideration of safety as pertains to crossings, curves and grades. Proper maintenance, too, is essential, not only to safety and comfort in driving, but to economy. For when breaks and defects appear in paved highways, the depreciation increases rapidly, unless repaired.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

THE HUMAN ENGINE
Compare the body with an engine, in study of foods for health's sake.

If the engine is not supplied with fuel it will produce no power. The same is true with the body. There is but one difference here.

Nature provided that the body should lay up a reserve of fuel in the form of latent energy. This reserve supply enables one to live for some time, even after food has been cut off.

But just as some materials cannot be converted into power and energy when placed in an engine furnace, likewise many things, sometimes listed under the head of foods, can not be transferred into body energy.

By experience man has learned what materials are useful as foods. These materials exist in great variety, but science has demonstrated that all of them consist of a few fundamental substances, combined in different proportions.

Here are the only food substances known: Proteins of different varieties, fats of various kinds, and carbohydrates, or starches and sugars. These three substances, plus water and mineral salts and the group of vitamins, constitute the basis of all foods.

Guides to Success

Chauncey M. Depew, who has been prominent in national politics and public affairs since 1860, when he was elected secretary of state of New York, said on his ninety-first birthday recently:

"So I have come to the conclusion, after a long experience and many large observations with mature judgment, properly based, and properly buttressed, that the only sure guides to success are character, health and happiness.

"Each man of my age receives personally and by letter innumerable inquiries of how to be happy, how to be healthy and how to live long.

"Happiness has a curious quality in that it increases by its distribution.

"Longevity is largely a matter of curbing appetites, until temperance and moderation become habits, and from this review which I have made of the world at large, of our own country and our own community, I am more firmly convinced than ever that this is a mighty good world to live in, inhabited by mighty companionable and lovable people, and I want to stay here as long as I can."

Worth While Verse

THE WILD DUCK'S NEST

The imperial consort of the Fairy-King
Owns not a sylvan bower; or gorgeous cell
With emerald floored, and with purpureal shell
Ceilinged and roofed; that is so fair a thing
As this low structure, for the tasks of Spring
Prepared by one who loves the buoyant swell
Of the brisk waves, yet here consents to dwell;
And spreads in steadfast peace her brooding wing.
Words cannot paint the o'er-shadowing yew tree bough,
And dimly-gleaming Nest—a hollow crown
Of golden leaves inlaid with silver down,
Fine as the mother's softest plumes allow;
I gazed—and, self-accused while gazing, sighed,
For human-kind, weak slaves of cumbersome pride.
—William Wordsworth.

A Record of Individual and Independent Opinion.

(Which may or may not be in harmony with the views of the Register.)

THEIR METHODS DIFFER—

Two brothers of Santa Paula, both successful bean growers, figure up the proper time to plant by slightly different methods.

One uses a thermometer and soil tester, and when, by strictly scientific methods, he decides that "the moisture content and thermodynamic optimum of the soil are normal" he proceeds with his planting.

The other says that, in order to be successful, the bean planter must get busy planting his seed two weeks after the grunion start to run.

GET A FINE HOME IN LOS ANGELES—The undersigned, who owns in fee simple the federal building in Los Angeles, is willing to sell it at a very low price.

All bidders complying with the terms of this advertisement will be presented with a beautiful modern home in the Wilshire district, 10,000 of which this advertiser proposes to give away absolutely free to encourage bidding on the federal building.

All bids must be accompanied by at least $1000 (cash or certified check) which money is to remain the property of the bidder but will be permanently retained by the undersigned.

Absolute good faith is pledged. Address: Loyd Algernon Bunk, rooms 961 to 1400, Hotel Auriferous, Los Angeles, Calif.

GREAT IS ECONOMY—

Sydney Wood, who was released from San Quentin state prison the other day after another man had confessed to the offense of which Wood was convicted in Los Angeles, will be given back $125 of the $150 he said was taken from him when arrested.

Governor Richardson has ordered Warden Smith to pay back $100 of the amount, while Robt. Braden, a member of the state board of control, added another $25. Wood served one year—Press dispatch, May 7th.

And the state of California acting through its governor, was generous enough to "give back" to this man, who had served a year's imprisonment for a crime he did not commit, two-thirds of the money he had in his possession when arrested. He got back two-thirds of it, and a generous state official gave another $25.

To paraphrase Lord Lytton: Beneath the rule of men supreme, great, Economy is the greatest thing that ever happened.

TRY EVERYTHING ONCE —

Might be all right to try this day-light saving proposition. Daylight probably only one and only I served to be had as cheaply as before the war; and as the most of us cannot save anything else we might try daylight saving.

EVERY MINUTE ONE IS

BORN—A couple of "get-rich-quick" experts caught Los Angeles business and professional men for a total sum in excess of $500,000.

As a matter of fact, the story they told should not have deceived a ten-year-old child, and yet all sorts and conditions of Los Angeles men bit avidly at the bait.

The chief stock in trade of the men who worked the swindle seems to have been abiding faith in the truth of the adage concerning a certain class of individual and his money.

THE FATHER, TOO, IS ALL

RIGHT—Robert Sessions, of Birmingham, Alabama, the boy who won the national oratorical contest, says he will give the $2000 prize to his school.

The lad further says that the keynote of his oration was the need of sacrifice to uphold our institutions, and that he feels that he should do his share along that line.

Young Sessions is doing this by the advice and with the consent of his father, a salaried man with several children, and by no means well to do.

The boy is all right! And, as John Stephen McGroarty would say, "By gollyies" there doesn't appear to be anything wrong with the old man.

KID SHOULD KNOW—Kid McCoy worked only a few weeks in the juke mill at San Quentin, after which he was given a job in connection with the Prison Bulletin, a publication gotten out daily by the inmates of the prison.

McCoy is also a contributor. An article from his pen on the subject "How to be happy though married" ought to be good.

BY WAY OF SUGGESTION—Eisteddfod, an ungainly word used to describe what is a sort of glorified Chautauqua, and a great improvement on that popular institution, is becoming very popular in Southern California.

Being a good thing, Santa Ana and Orange county will doubtless welcome it. This column makes no objection to this, or to anything except the name, which is hard on those with short memories or weak jaws.

If we are going to have Eisteddfod here let us call it Tedford. Tedford is a good American name, presumably an old English one. It is a well known and honorable name and we can all pronounce it. If this column is going to have anything to do with Eisteddfod it's got to be called Tedford.

SOME CONSOLATION—Alva H. Floyd, former city recorder of Culver City, has been found guilty on thirteen counts in a verdict which may mean a prison term of from thirteen to one hundred and fifty-four years.

Well, the first hundred years are said to be the hardest.

NOT ESPECIALLY FRIENDLY

—England permits, if she does not encourage, the outfitting of whole fleets, with cargoes of rum, bound for the United States, where he lands in defiance of this country's laws.

The "mother country" had to pay an immense sum as damages at the close of the Civil war in the United States for permitting fast American cruisers to slip in and out of her ports to prey upon American commerce. The most famous of those privateers, the Alabama, did millions of dollars of damage. Then, England had to make a large portion of this damage good.

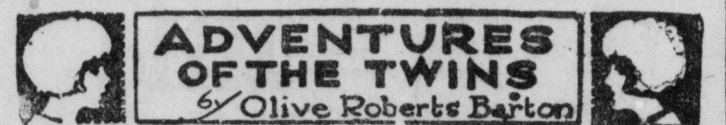

To the ordinary observer there does not seem much difference between what is going on now and in the early 60's.

ISN'T SEVERE ENOUGH —

Thanks to the new postal rate, it now costs two cents to send one of those "Wish you were here" cards. It should be made a felony.

NO. 12—PETER PENGUIN MAKES A VISIT

Scarcely had Mister Wild Duck taken himself off, when Nick exclaimed, "Oh, Doctor Bill, here comes another bird that looks like a bishop. He has a black coat and a white shirt front and he's fat and straight and sort of leans backward."

Doctor Bill, the bird doctor, laughed and laughed. "That's right, Nick," he exclaimed, looking where Nick was pointing. "It's Peter Penguin. He does look like a bishop. He visits me once a year to tell me the news. We are old friends. How you, Peter?" he asked as the fat bird waddled in and looked at them all with his funny round eyes.

"I'm all right so far," said Peter Penguin. "But it's only because I have enough sense to come away when the going is good. It's about this time of year that boat loads of men come to our island and kill us by hundreds. I always get away first."

"What do they want to kill so many of you for?" asked Nancy sympathetically.

"They say that we are extra oily and they boil us down to make penguin oil. I don't know what it is used for, and I don't care," he added indignantly.

"Won't you sit down and tell us the news?" invited Doctor Bill. "Thanks, I am sitting," said the bird. "I just look as though I was standing. I'm very comfortable. As for news—let me see. There ought to be plenty, as there are more sea-birds than any other kind. Sea-birds live on fish, so they are always sure of a living."

"Won't you tell these children about the sea-birds?" asked Doctor Bill. "There are so many kinds and they are all so interesting."
